INQUIRY FAILS TO END LONDON BIG BUS STRIKE

Board Suggests Further Investigation Into Hours of Work and Operatives' Health; Stoppage May Extend Past Coronation Day

Efforts Today To Avert Coal Strike

Associated Press
London, May 6.—Complete stoppage of London's buses until after the Coronation next Wednesday grew more probable today when a court of inquiry failed to decide on the justice of the 25,000 strikers' demands.

The court said evidence placed before it by the busmen to show they needed a 7½-hour work day for health reasons was "inconclusive," but warranted further investigation.

If an inquiry shows their health is being affected, the board said, "immediate steps should be taken to remedy the situation."

Hope was expressed in some quarters, however, that the busmen would be willing to return to work until such an inquiry could be made.

It was known today the tramway drivers and conductors of London would not leave work at present to demand a seven and a half hour day. The decision was made last night.

TRUCE IN COUNTIES
A truce also was declared in the thirteen-county bus strike that has lasted several weeks, tying up highway traffic in Kent and surrounding counties. It was decided at a meeting in London between officials of the Transport General Workers' Union and provincial delegates to recommend to the branches they empower the union to arrange for work to be resumed Saturday.

IN COALFIELDS
Efforts to avert the national coal strike called for May 22 were redoubled today following the eloquent appeal of the Prime Minister yesterday—"my last appeal"—and one of his last speeches in the House of Commons before his approaching retirement.

Captain Crookshank, Minister of Mines, was in direct charge of attempts to settle the troublesome question that may result in 500,000 miners in England and Wales laying down their tools. At issue is collective bargaining in the Harworth Colliery in Nottinghamshire.

Hedley Report Out On Monday
Commissioner's Findings Received By Government; Lengthy Document

The final report of Commissioner G. L. "Pat" Fraser on his investigation under the Securities Act into the stock slump of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines Ltd. was received this morning by Premier Pattullo.

The Premier and the staff of the Attorney-General's department were digesting the report today and preparing copies for the press. Mr. Pattullo said it would be made public at the first of next week, probably Monday.

URGES RELEASE OF RELIEF MEN

Pattullo Recommends Fifty Jailed For Vagrancy Be Freed

Premier Pattullo announced today he will recommend to the Department of Justice that fifty relief camp men jailed in Vancouver Tuesday for begging be released.

When they are released they will be given the same opportunity as other transients to return to forestry or public works camps.

The men were sentenced to one month. It was alleged by defence counsel that the Labor Department had withheld its decision to allow men to return to the camps until after the trial was completed.

The Premier said he had looked into this allegation and found it untrue. Actually the final decision was not made until late in the morning of the trial, and the department responsible was not aware the trial was proceeding.

The men charged were also unaware that the Labor Department was trying to find accommodation for them in the camps, and were apparently the victims of unsound advice by those who did not have the welfare of the men at heart, the Premier said.

As they were charged under the Criminal Code the power of release rested with the Dominion, he pointed out. Under the circumstances he was wiring the Department of Justice recommending their release.

Renew Inquiry Into Old Slaying

Murder of W. D. Taylor in Los Angeles in 1922 Again Investigated

Associated Press
Los Angeles, May 6.—District Attorney Buron Pitts announced today renewed investigation into movie-dom's greatest mystery, the slaying of Director William Desmond Taylor, fifteen years ago.

The prosecutor said Mary Miles Minter, silent screen star, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, her mother; and Mrs. Margaret Fillmore, Mary's sister, had been subpoenaed to appear before the county grand jury.

He claimed "information never before disclosed." This included two diaries.

Fitts said information would be given the grand jury which was contained a deposition made by Mrs. Fillmore as part of a civil suit against her mother. Mrs. Fillmore is seeking to recover $48,000 which she claims Mrs. Shelby took from a safe deposit box in a downtown bank prior to August 5, 1922.

DIARIES STUDIED
The district attorney said two diaries were found by his investigator (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

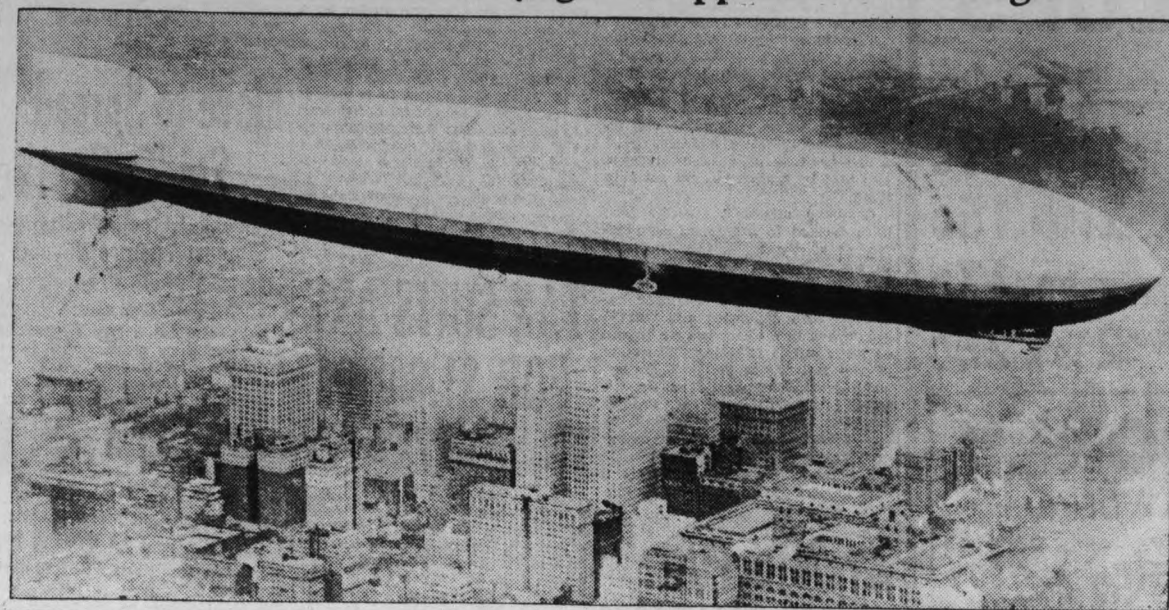

Industry Training Plan For Veterans

Dominion Government Will Help Employers to Recondition Unemployed Ex-servicemen in Former Jobs With Payments Up To Maximum of Three Months

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 6.—A scheme of probationary training aimed at reconditioning unemployed veterans in the industrial work to which they were formerly accustomed, but in which years of unemployment have made them "rusty," has been decided on by the government, it was announced today. The plan embraces both Canadian and Imperial ex-servicemen who served in a theatre of actual war.

At the last session of Parliament $250,000 was appropriated for this work, the terms of its disbursement being "to provide for the payment

Degrees Conferred At Convocation Today At U.B.C.

Colorful Ceremony Brings Term to Close at Point Grey

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 6.—Chancellor R. E. McKechnie of the University of British Columbia wrote "finis" to the college careers of nearly 300 graduates of the college when he conferred degrees on them in the campus gymnasium here today.

The elderly, white-haired surgeon who has been chancellor continuously since April, 1918, admitted the graduates to the university convocation before hundreds of parents and relatives who crowded into the student-financed sports arena long before the ceremony began.

Early this afternoon the graduating class—representing the faculties of arts and science, applied science and agriculture—took their places in a line, two abreast, at the gray-stone library on the campus.

At the head of the students were the arts graduates—300 strong—successful candidates in recent examinations for the degree Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts and Bachelor of Commerce. Over their arms were draped the blue-lined hoods they are now entitled to wear on the shoulders of their academic gowns.

Behind them were graduates in the faculty of applied science, who later received their degrees as Bachelors and Masters of Applied Science. Then came roughly twenty candidates for the degrees of Bachelor and Master of Science in Agriculture.

DEATH INVESTIGATED
Vancouver, May 6 (Canadian Press)—Police today are investigating the death of Edward Purford, seventy-one, believed to have been struck by a hit-and-run automobile driver. Purford was admitted to a hospital late Sunday by friends who said he had been struck by an automobile. He died yesterday before he was able to give details of the accident.

AT LAST QUIET
At the hour of the broadcast the streets had become quiet, the announcement stated.

Earlier reports told of the dispatch to Barcelona of two strong forces by the main government to quell continuing disorders in the "war within a war."

Telephone and telegraph communications with Barcelona still were cut. A force of 1,000 men was said to have started from Valencia, temporary seat of the Spanish government, to suppress the anarchist uprising and guerrilla warfare in Barcelona.

Another column, the reports said, was withdrawn from the Aragon front by Luis Companys, president of autonomous Catalonia, supporting Valencia's efforts to restore peace.

Many Subscribe To Federal Loan

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 6.—Good progress on the Conversion Loan opened yesterday as a means of redeeming part of the $322,000,000 of tax-free 3½ per cent Victory bonds maturing December 1, 1937, was reported today at the Finance Department. It was said many applications were being received.

Associated Press
Pittsburgh, May 6.—The Mellon Institute today dedicated its $6,000,000 new building, the world's largest research institution. Its exterior is a Greek temple nine stories high, its interior new laboratory magic, with three and a half miles of corridors leading to 322 laboratory rooms where at present 185 scientists work.

IN BARCELONA 400 ARE KILLED

With Revolting Anarchists Holding Points, Valencia Sends Troops

Associated Press
Perpignan, Franco - Spanish Frontier, May 6.—Four hundred persons have been killed and 1,000 wounded in the anarchist revolt at Barcelona, the Barcelona radio station announced at 5:40 p.m. today.

Those were casualties since Tuesday in ferocious fighting within the city, capital of autonomous Catalonia and now ordered under the military away of the main Spanish government at Valencia.

Catalonia's government has supported Valencia and Madrid against the Fascist insurgents since last July's rebellion.

STUDENTS' CONFERENCE

Winnipeg, May 6 (Canadian Press).—A Dominion conference of Canadian university students will be held here December 21 to 31, it was announced today by Rev. B. L. Oaten, national secretary of the Canadian Students' Christian Movement.

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS

Arnold C. Flett, Liberal candidate in Cowichan-Newcastle, comes of true pioneer stock. His grandfather on his father's side came out to B.C. in 1849 as a Hudson's Bay fur trader. On his mother's side his grandfather was John M. Evans, ninety-one-year-old Cowichan on Christmas Day, 1900.

Capt. C. S. Leary, the chief Liberal whip in the last House, was re-nominated last night in Kaslo-Slocan riding. He has been in the district thirty-five years.

Conservatives have picked Leonard Geddes, a youthful Columbia Valley rancher, to contest Columbia riding. He announced at his nomination meeting that he did not intend to be bound too tightly by party lines.

Leading the nomination race today the Liberal party had forty-six candidates in the field but two to be named to complete its roster of one for every seat. The three Liberals as yet un-nominated are Hon. F. M. MacPherson in Cranbrook and Dr. J. J. Gillis in Yale, both members of the last House and expected to stand again.

Frederick P. Burden, former Agent-General for B.C. in London, is in the field as a Conservative candidate. He was named last night in Fort George where he will oppose H. G. Perry, Speaker of the last legislature. Mr. Burden was elected in Fort George in 1928 and was Minister of Lands until 1931.

L. Arnold Hanna, deputy speaker in the last House, will stand again in Comox. He was nominated by the Liberals there last night. Mr. Hanna has represented the riding since 1928, being one of the Liberal opposition group in the Talmie regime.

Frank Putnam, popular lumberman and rancher of Creston Valley, was again nominated by the Liberals of Nelson-Creston.

Tax Bills Will Go Out in June

Tax bills will be sent out to Victoria property owners in June, George O'Neil, city assessor-collector, announced today.

At present the department is checking all accounts in the books to determine the total of the individual assessments for taxation on a basis of 65 per cent of assessment on improvements and 100 per cent on lands. When all individual accounts have been totaled, they must be balanced with the general amount already listed. The cross checking system used prevents any error in the assessed amounts involved on any particular property.

On Monday and Tuesday evenings at the Royal Victoria Theatre, school children of the city will present a "Pageant of Empire" in costume as their contribution to the week of festivities.

On Tuesday morning, Mayor Andrew McGavin, accompanied by members of the city's celebration committee and the school board, will visit all Victoria's grade schools and present to each a new picture of King George VI in his Coronation robes.

At Victoria High School they will make a special gift of a moving picture camera and projector.

RELIGIOUS SERVICE
The accommodation at Christ Church Cathedral is expected to be taxed to capacity on Wednesday morning for the diocesan service in connection with the Coronation of Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. The service will start at 9:30 and will continue until about 10:30 o'clock. The service will follow the general theme of a form of prayer and thanksgiving commended by the Archbishop of Canterbury and York. Hon. Aulay Morrison, administrator, accompanied by government, civic and other dignitaries, will attend the service.

The centre of interest will shift to the grounds of the Parliament Buildings immediately following the service.

Associated Press
Rome, May 6.—Italian war correspondent in Spain reported today the "Black Arrow" Legion—mostly Italian volunteers with the Spanish insurgents—is being concentrated on the Bilbao front for a "big push" which they have been told must not fail.

"Legionaries of the Black Arrow" and other volunteers are flocking to the Bay of Biscay coast from Bermeo, near Bilbao, in La Tribuna.

Mrs. Adolph Ochs Called By Death

Associated Press
New York, May 6.—Mrs. Adolph Ochs, widow of the publisher of The New York Times, died suddenly today at her home, "Hillandale," in White Plains.

She suffered a heart attack a short time ago and her death came a little more than two years after her husband died at Chattanooga, Tenn., April 8, 1936.

Total Dead and Hurt Unknown In First Rush

Passengers and Crew Totaled 100; Only Twisted Duralumin Frame on Ground a Few Moments After First Burst of Flame; Spectators Shriek as Tragedy Ends Voyage From Germany.

Lakehurst, N.J., May 6.—The big German zeppelin Hindenburg burst into flames today as it prepared to alight at the naval air station after its first crossing of the year.

Aboard the Hindenburg were thirty-nine passengers and a crew of sixty-one, including several students.

The giant ship had tossed her nose lines to the ground in a light shower when suddenly there was a terrific burst of flame from her stern.

The sound of the explosion and the flames brought shrieks from many spectators who had gathered to see the ship complete her twenty-first safe crossing between the United States and Germany.

Within a few moments there was nothing but a twisted aluminum frame collapsed on the ground.

No estimate of the injured or dead was available immediately.

The Hindenburg had been delayed several hours by strong head winds over the Atlantic and a rainstorm which broke shortly before it was sighted here kept it aloft.

It had crossed above the air station within sight of spectators for more than an hour waiting for the weather to clear to permit a mooring.

The ship was preparing to come down when suddenly it burst into flames.

MAX PRUSS COMMANDED
The ship was in command of Captain Max Pruss, former first officer, Captain Ernest A. Lehmann, who commanded the ship on its crossings last year, was aboard in an advisory capacity.

The spectators stood sobbing. Many of them hysterical as army trucks sped up with screaming sirens toward the still blazing wreckage.

The great silver ship, largest lighter-than-air craft ever built, made ten round trip voyages between Lakehurst and Germany last summer without mishap. The trips were designed to test the feasibility of regular airship service between the two continents.

The Hindenburg held the record for crossing of the Atlantic by lighter-than-air craft.

Last year, leaving Lakehurst, N.J., on August 9 she reached Frankfurt, Germany on August 11, just forty-two hours and fifty-three minutes out.

The workers also reported they had recovered the charred body of Express Messenger Camille Leblanc of Moncton, N.B. He was trapped in an express car and burned to death when the car plunged over a forty-foot embankment.

The crack flier, the Halifax-Montreal Ocean Limited, collided head-on with eight loaded coal cars, after a tiny shunting engine had made a fruitless attempt to overtake the runaway cars which had rolled out on the main line from the impetus of shunting operations, at the top of a long grade.

STORIES AT HALIFAX
The body of Engineer Clarence Bauer of Moncton, N.B., was found under his engine after it had plunged down the forty-foot embankment, pulling the first three cars of the ten-car train with it.

British Warships Protect Bilbao Refugee Vessels

Two Spanish Liners Carry 5,000 Non-combatants From North Spain Port Besieged by Insurgents, One of Whose Cruisers Attempts to Overtake Them, Only to Find British Battleship Royal Oak on Guard

Bilbao, Spain, May 6.—Two Spanish liners loaded with 5,000 women and children bound for refuge in France steamed out of the Biscayan war zone today under protection of British warships.

The Habana and the Izarra headed for Bordeaux with the battleship Royal Oak and two British destroyers to convoy them.

The insurgent cruiser Almirante Cervera hove out of the mist in an effort to overtake the refugee craft, while still in view of shore, but the Royal Oak formed a protective flank. The insurgent warship withdrew and disappeared in the distance.

The insurgent destroyer Velasco hovered in the background, but returned also to cover under the mists. The exiles from the besieged Basque capital—a city menaced by attacking insurgent forces—had boarded the liners in the early morning. Two-thirds of them were small children. Each child carried a card with his name and destination, held by a string around his neck.

NEW HEAD FOR HEDLEY NAMED

J. Y. McCarter of Vancouver Becomes President of Gold Mine

Vancouver, May 6.—J. Y. McCarter, past president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, has been named president of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines Limited to succeed Russell E. Barker, whose resignation was requested by directors recently. The position of general manager, also held by Barker, has not yet been filled. Company directors' meeting here have decided to engage all new employees at the mine, from muckers to consulting engineer in charge of the property.

The consulting engineer has already been appointed and will be announced in a statement which will be made public following publication of the full report by G. L. Fraser, commissioner in charge of an investigation into the company. Mr. Fraser's report is expected to be released by the British Columbia government next Monday.

Directors of the company are Frank Parsons, R. Swanson, J. E. Buerk and E. G. Hurrell.

EVENTS FOR CORONATION

Military, naval and militia units will be drawn up in mass formation in the grounds where they will be joined by uniformed groups from the Independent Order of the Daughters of the Empire, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts, Sea Cadets, and other organizations.

The Girl Guides and I.O.D.E. representatives will take their positions on the side of the east lawn. The Boy Scouts and Sea Cadets will be on the side of the west lawn, and school children will occupy roped-off areas reached by special entrances from the Museum and Menzies Street. A reserved area for distinguished visitors will be established on the east side of the main steps and for aged people on the west side.

The troops will line up on Menzies Street, where the saluting battery will be located. Veterans' organizations will form up on the west drive and the Arion Club on the path facing the main steps below the terrace. The Administrator, Mayor McCreery, Premier Pattullo and other provincial and civic dignitaries, together with military and naval officers and distinguished visitors, will take their positions on the steps.

REBROADCAST
The rebroadcast of the actual Coronation ceremonies will be carried to all parts of the grounds by amplifiers. Upon its completion the military band will play "O Canada" and will be followed by musical selections by military and civil bands. The Arion Club will render selections and the troops will fall in, order arms, fix bayonets and await the first gun of the Royal Salute and Feu de Joie scheduled to start sharply at noon.

The ceremony will be brought to a close with a salute of troops taking the salute opposite the Empress Hotel. During the afternoon a special band concert will be held at Beacon Hill and in the evening, starting at 8:45 o'clock, a splendid barrage of fireworks will be touched off from a barge in the Inner Harbor.

DANCING FEATURED
The remainder of the evening will be devoted mainly to dancing, with orchestras providing music for free entertainment at the Crystal Garden, the Chamber of Commerce and Blanshard Street, under the auspices of the city. Other private dances will be in full swing.

The Festival of British Music, celebrating the Coronation, arranged by the Victoria Choral and Orchestral Union in Christ Church Cathedral, will be held in the form of a final rehearsal and special children's showing, starting at 7 o'clock that evening.

The state performance will be given on Thursday, May 13, and a public performance the following day.

tors at Mary Miles Minter's Beverly Hills home and would be read to the grand jury.

William Desmond Taylor, whose real name was William Dene Tanner, directed Miss Minter in several pictures and was the friend of many film notables of his day.

He was shot in the back and killed on the evening of February 1, 1922.

PLEASED INQUIRY RENEWED
Today Mrs. Charlotte Shelby said: "I am delighted that Mr. Pitts responded so quickly to my request to reopen the investigation of the Taylor murder case. For the past fifteen years there have been many rumors circulated, innumerable threats against me and now comes practically a formal charge by my own daughter, Mrs. Margaret Shelby Fillmore, to the effect I withheld important facts and she assisted me in withholding them from the authorities."

One Man Says His Stands On Route of London Procession May 12 Will Sell $100,000 Worth of Food; 100,000 Sandwiches to Be Cut

London, May 6.—Some impression of the proportions of the catering business on the Coronation procession route is given the announcement that one snack proprietor on a section of the six-mile route expects to sell more than $100,000 worth of food. The basis of his reckoning: 100,000 sandwiches at 6 cents each; cups of tea, made from 2,800 pounds of tea, 1,500 gallons of milk, five tons of sugar, at 6 cents each; 100,000 buns at 2 cents each; 50,000 meat pies at 4 cents each; 100,000 half-pint cartons of milk at 6 cents each; 50,000 slabs of fruit cake at 5 cents each.

There will also be other items on the snack menus.

TAX SUITS ARE FOR $1,800,000

John J. Raskob Paid No Income Levy to U.S. in 1930

New York, May 6.—John J. Raskob, multi-millionaire business associate of Pierre S. Dupont, and former chairman of the Democratic Party Committee, paid no income tax in 1930, it was brought out today in the income tax case against the two industrialists.

Mason B. Leming, special counsel for the United States revenue bureau and chief of government counsel in the litigation to collect approximately $1,800,000 from the two industrialists in alleged deficiency on their 1929 tax, introduced Raskob's return for 1930 into evidence at the hearing before Richard D. Whitney, member of the United States board of tax commissioners.

Raskob listed a total income for 1930 of $799,181.94 and deductions of $867,263.54.

SALARY WAS $10,000
He gave his occupation for that year as vice-president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and listed a salary of $10,000.

The return was brought into the case by Leming in developing the second of a series of transactions between Du Pont and Raskob following the Wall Street panic in October, 1929, by which the two financiers in cross-sales established losses of approximately $7,000,000 which they deducted from their 1929 returns.

Speaking for the federated crafts, Charles Kimmerlin said the strikers had received a commitment from a "powerful labor organization" which he refused to name, "offering to picket within thirty-six hours every motion picture theatre in the United States."

TELEGRAMS SENT
Shortly afterward, Leming sent telegrams to general headquarters of the United States Union, requesting that pickets be stationed in front of movie theatres throughout the United States. He also wired labor groups in all key cities, asking for co-operation in movie picketing and picketing.

Business Gains Lessen Relief

Ottawa, May 6.—Needs of people suffering from unemployment and drought in various parts of Canada are being lessened by the fact that the $3,788,000 the Dominion will spend this year in conjunction with the provinces, it was learned today at the Labor Department.

Agreements have been made with all provinces except Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Terms of the agreements will be made public by Labor Minister Norman Rogers when all are concluded.

The reduced amounts the Dominion is providing this year for grants-in-aid and works to aid employment bear testimony to the government's view that improved economic conditions have lessened the need.

In the fiscal year ended March last, votes for grants-in-aid and works totaled $4,545,000. In addition $2,770,000 was voted for relief camps and $3,100,000 to the railways for helping with unemployment. Since then relief camps have been disbanded and the two special votes not repeated for the current fiscal year, 1937-38.

The reduction in the current fiscal year accordingly amounts to more than 30 per cent.

PRAIRIES CONSIDERED

The large number on the prairies who have suffered from drought are known to have placed Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba in a preferred position.

In the cuts from last year's contribution from the Dominion, it was assumed therefore the other provinces would be reduced much more than the 30 per cent which is general to all.

Firing of Rifle Starts Search

Vancouver, May 6.—(Canadian Press).—Mrs. James Laird died in a hospital here early today from injuries suffered April 19 when she was struck by a bicycle. Duncan MacGregor, sixteen-year-old messenger boy, said Mrs. Laird stepped from the curb in front of him and he was unable to avoid striking her.

Lotzkar said he was standing near the window when the glass was shattered. Searchers were unable to find the bullet in the room.

GOSSIP ON KING'S HEALTH SCORED

London, May 6.—"Malicious gossip" concerning the King's health was denounced in a speech today by R. H. Hyde, director of the Industrial Welfare Society.

Mr. Hyde, who accompanied the King as Duke of York on many industrial visits, termed His Majesty "delightful company, very human, very lovable and free from all thought of rank and privilege."

Referring to what he termed the curious falling of many people to believe evil of public characters, Hyde told the Industrial Co-partnership Association that "only yesterday at my club I was asked if the King was epileptic."

Move to Spread Studio Strike

Hollywood Movie Craftsmen Suggest Theatre Boycott Across U.S.

Hollywood, Calif., May 6.—Striking motion picture craftsmen appealed today for a nation-wide boycott and picketing of movie theatres after rejecting a peace proposal that omitted mention of the closed shop and union recognition.

Producers accepted unequivocally the terms of the peace plan, submitted yesterday by the Los Angeles Central Labor Council, American Federation of Labor group with which the striking craftsmen are affiliated. The proposal provided:

1. All striking crafts return to work immediately without prejudice, and 2. Negotiations be conducted by representatives of each of the 114 striking unions for establishment of wage scales and working conditions.

"The strike is still on," said Charles Lessing, head of the Federated Motion Picture Crafts, which called the walkout.

LOSSES IN THEFTS

Trail, B.C., May 6.—Aldermen of this west Kootenay smelting centre today were considering appointment of a full time watchman for the Mountain View Cemetery, one of their number having reported at a council meeting that "people go up there with a truck and take a whole load of plants and implements."

Alderman J. R. Anderson charged there had been many recent thefts of bushes, plants and bulbs from the graveyard. A whole bed of dahlias had been cleaned out.

BRIGHT FUTURE
FOR B.C. SEENW. J. West of Manufacturers' Assn. Says Industries May Pass 1929 Level

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 6.—British Columbian may "confidently look forward" to equalling or surpassing the record of production set by basic industries in 1929 if production is not retarded and if present price levels are maintained, retiring chairman W. J. West told the twentieth annual meeting of the British Columbia Manufacturers' Association here last night.

"The past year has seen a big industrial expansion in British Columbia and there can be no doubt there has been a great return of industrial activity," Mr. West said. He said that "barring unforeseen or uncontrollable developments, signs of which are not entirely lacking," there is in sight even greater expansion for the current year.

LUMBER AND FISHERIES
The retiring chairman said the British Columbia forest products industry showed an increase of almost 100 per cent in volume and value over the low point of 1933. Mineral production had increased more than 50 per cent; fisheries production was up 25 per cent, and agriculture had its best year since 1929.

HEALTH INSURANCE
Discussing health insurance, Mr. West denied accusations from various sources that the association was opposed to such legislation.

"The association has never opposed health insurance in principle," Mr. West said. "What we have asked is that ordinary business principles be applied before the scheme is put into effect."

Borstal System

Canadian Prison Inquiry
Commission Hears Suggestions in Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 6.—Rev. J. Dinnage Hobden, executive secretary of the John Howard Society of Vancouver, told the royal commission investigating Canadian penal conditions he believed the British Borstal system should be introduced in Dominion penitentiaries.

The Borstal system provides for segregation of youthful prisoners and opportunity for vocational training.

Mr. Hobden gave evidence here before Chairman Joseph A. Archambault and his fellow commissioners at their concluding public session here yesterday.

Mr. Hobden said he had investigated the Borstal system when he visited England two years ago and gave it his commendation.

PAROLE BOARDS
Establishment of a separate parole board for each penitentiary in Canada and elimination of military atmosphere surrounding penal institutions were other steps urged by Mr. Hobden.

Rev. Hobden said he hoped "the day will come when we will be able to demilitarize the atmosphere of penitentiaries, and the authorities realize that it is possible to have efficient administration without the discipline of a military background."

He said he hoped "something definite will result from the commission's investigation despite the fact Ottawa has the reputation in the west of being the graveyard for commission reports."

Other witnesses suggested:

Establishment of an adequate probation system for first offenders under trained and carefully selected probation officers.

Enlargement of educational facilities in prisons with particular reference to occupational training so inmates can get employment after their release.

Special treatment for prisoners who are narcotic drug addicts.

"To day the commission resumed sessions in private at the penitentiary at New Westminster. It is expected investigations there will continue for ten days."

Montreal Dress
Strike SettledCanadian Press
Montreal, May 6.—The three-week-old dress strike here has been settled and 2,500 workers will go back to their shops Friday morning.

The announcement came today after a five-hour conference between representatives of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and the Montreal Dress Manufacturers' Guild, at odds over the question of union recognition since the strike opened exactly three weeks ago.

No details of the settlement were disclosed and it remained uncertain whether the guild was to grant recognition to the I.L.G.W.U. in preference to the two French-Canadian unions that now hold its labor contracts.

Previously, about eighty employers had broken away from the guild to negotiate with the I.L.G.W.U., leaving some twenty shops closed.

C.C.F. LEADER
SEES CHANGESCo-operatives Or State Control
Is Party's Plan, Says
Woodsworth

Nelson, B.C., May 6.—Service to the community instead of profits for a few individuals or corporations was the basic principle of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, J. S. Woodsworth, federal member for Winnipeg, said here last night.

The House of Commons C.C.F. leader spoke in the third of his series of addresses in British Columbia in support of the provincial C.C.F. party campaigning for election at the polls, June 1.

The C.C.F. proposed establishment of co-operatives or state control, whichever appeared advisable, to give the people direct control over their livelihood instead of having such control centred in a few persons, he said.

"Tremendous changes are taking place in our entire economic structure," Mr. Woodsworth declared. "It is used to be that each individual could make his own way in the world. A man who was content to spend his life as a hired employee was looked down upon. He hired out for a year or two, then established himself. Today five-sixths of the people, excluding those on farms, are earners, working for someone else."

NEW PEERS PAY
NO SPECIAL FEE

Canadian Press
London, May 6.—Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced yesterday that legislation was coming to abolish the payment of fees and stamp duties by the recipients of honors and dignities conferred by the crown.

A clause to be included in the 1937 finance bill would be effective immediately, he said.

Fees at present payable on the granting of letters patent are: Duke £350 ($1,727), Marquess £300, Earl £250, Viscount £200, Baron £150, Baronet £100, and others £30.

When Lord Byng, on his retirement as Governor-General of Canada, was raised from baron to viscount in 1926, he refused to pay the fee. The levy eventually was foregone, but the honor was not gazetted until 1928. Fees also were remitted for Viscount Snowden and for Lord Sankey when he was raised from baron to viscount.

Success Leaves
Tastes Simple

Associated Press
Atlanta, May 6.—Margaret Mitchell says she is "going to keep right on living as I always have lived," despite the fame and wealth won with her Pulitzer prize-winning novel, "Gone With the Wind."

Her creed for the future: "I want to keep on being happy, doing the things I have always enjoyed doing. And I want to be fat and amiable."

"You see, I got down to ninety-seven pounds last fall and I'm back to 110 now and I want to weigh 117 or so."

Miss Mitchell and her husband, John Marsh, young advertising executive, live in the same apartment they occupied before the Civil War novel was published last summer. The wealth that has come through sale of 1,300,000 copies of the book has made no apparent difference in their mode of living.

CONSOL PLAN
IS PROPOSEDDr. Frank Patterson Says
Conservatives Would Stop
B.C. Debt Increases

Canadian Press
Golden, B.C., May 6.—Dr. Frank Patterson last night attacked the provincial administration for what he called its extravagance with resultant increase in the public debt and predicted the Conservative party which he leads would be returned by electors in the June 1 polling.

The provincial Conservative leader spoke at a public meeting here following a convention which earlier had named Leonard Geddes to contest the Columbia riding.

Dr. Patterson criticized the high cost of commissions and inquiries, and declared the public debt had increased during the past century at the rate of $6,000,000 annually.

"I do not excuse any of the past governments for failure to keep down the debt, but I do say that under the policy adopted by a reorganized Conservative party the Conservatives will stop increasing the debt and refund it in conjunction with the federal government on a consol basis, as in Great Britain," Dr. Patterson said.

Victoria Leads In
New Canada BookFirst Sketch of Scene in "Canada Cavalcade," Written By Bob Davis, Is of Butchart's Gardens;
Scenes in Nine Provinces
Described

By HAROLD FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer
New York, May 5.—Between the green-and-white jacket of a book called "Canada Cavalcade," Bob Davis, globe-girdling New York newspaperman has concocted a grand tonic for homesick Canadians abroad, and an eye-opener for many Canadians at home.

The man The New York Sun told in 1928 to cover the world and not stop "until you've seen all there is of the globe" has collected scores of articles—drawn from many years of traveling in Canada—into a book which constitutes an advertisement akin to Canadian scenery or the Dionne quintuplets.

Arranging his chapters as he roves leisurely from coast to coast, Davis misses nothing of the breathtaking beauty of Lake Louise, the Rockies and the placid Maritimes, but all the scenery is a mere frame for his human interest stories.

As a matter of fact, he confides towards the end of the book, he is "more interested in people than in ports" and that gives a pretty good idea of what his cavalcade attempts.

VICTORIA LEADS
Aptly enough, his first sketch is an account of Victoria's famed Butchart Gardens, but he lets Mrs. Butchart, native of Ontario, tell the tale rather than filling pages with his own impression of the transformed quays.

"Between the gardens and his ramblings through the Banff National Park are interspersed tales of British Columbia salmon fishing and an account of Mike, the "bar dog" near Qualicum Beach—the dog of almost human intelligence who will bring the thirsty customer a bottle and the necessary opener and take the money for it to the bartender.

"JEWEL OF ROCKIES"
Davis calls Lake Louise the "incomparable jewel of the Canadian Rockies." Instead of dilating on its beauty he interviews Tom Wilson, who in 1882 was the first white man to see the lake.

The prairies furnish him with tales of the Mounted Police, the fast journey of a silk special across the continent to New York, while in Winnipeg he hears from Ned Sawyer, former railwayman, about the ride from Manitow to Morden through a great herd of elk.

Ontario and Quebec are practically neglected. He has not yet seen the Dionne girls, but interviewed someone who did. Under a Stratford date-line he tells of the Duke of Windsor being criticized by two farmers who met him while he left his special train when touring the country as Prince of Wales, and offered him a "fine job" at $50 a month.

Best Quebec story is the interview with Captain D. E. Macintyre, who inaugurated a new form of trench raid during the Great War, dated Montreal.

ST. ANN GIANT
In the Maritimes, Davis dwells on such stories as Angus MacAskill, the St. Ann Alant, the Mahaney quadruplets at Saint John, Pictou's lobsters and ice-breaking in Borden Strait.

Davis finds a sea captain to tell him of the escape of the Confederate cruiser Tallahassee from Halifax Harbor one dark night during the United States Civil War.

Two Soviet Men To Attend Coronation

Associated Press
Moscow, May 6.—The Soviet government, in a last minute change, yesterday, decided to send Admiral Vladimir Orlov with Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff to the Coronation in London, May 12, instead of Marshal M. N. Tukhachevsky.

Officially it was explained Tukhachevsky caught a severe chill last Saturday at the May Day parade in Red Square.

Ontario's Surplus Is Reported $9,313,938

Canadian Press
Toronto, May 6.—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario announced a surplus of $9,313,938 when he issued details yesterday of the province's financial statement for the fiscal year ended March 31.

He also announced a "substantial" reduction in passenger auto license fees before next October.

The statement showed net ordinary revenue of $80,488,439 compared with ordinary expenditures of $71,174,501. Direct employment relief expenditures totaled $13,270,057.

In his budget speech, Mr. Hepburn estimated the surplus at $7,343,000.

Arms Plants
To Be ContinuedBritish Government Decides
Against Abolition of Firms and Full Nationalization

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, May 6.—The British government has decided against abolition of private manufacture and trade in armaments. In this the government accepts the findings of the recent Royal Commission.

The commission found that abolition of the private arms industry in the United Kingdom and substitution therefore of a state monopoly might be practicable but was undesirable.

"We are of the opinion," the commission held, "that the necessities of imperial defence cannot effectively be met in existing conditions except by the maintenance in peace time of a system of collaboration between the government and private industry of the country in the supply of arms and munitions."

INTERNATIONAL FIELD
On the question of international control of the arms trade the white paper observes:

"It must unfortunately be recognized that at present international conditions are such that hopes of making progress towards limitation or reduction of armaments are not likely to be immediately realized."

"The main object of the government's foreign policy is to so improve the international political situation as to provide conditions wherein such progress would be possible. In the meantime they (the government) are not entirely convinced of the utility of pressing forward with any isolated aspect of the armaments problem."

PUBLICITY PROPOSAL
"Nevertheless they consider that the question of publicity for national defence expenditure might be examined and the possibility explored of attaining a general agreement on a draft convention of this subject, drawn up by a competent subcommittee of the Disarmament Conference to enforce it if accepted by the principal powers."

Should general agreement be reached on it, reconsideration of the wider question of international regulation of arms manufacture and trade should be possible. Should no progress be made even on these modest proposals for publicity of national defence expenditure no useful purpose could be possibly served at present by re-opening the wider question."

DEATH PENALTY
Seattle, May 6 (Associated Press).—After deliberating less than two and a half hours, a jury last night recommended the death penalty for Enechi Kato, who had pleaded guilty to the first degree murder of his sick wife and their four children at Auburn, Wash., last February.

Words of Encouragement

IT IS GRATIFYING TO LEARN from one so well versed in economic conditions as Mr. W. J. West, the retiring chairman of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, that conditions are improving all the time, and that the people of this province may "confidently look forward" to equaling or surpassing the record of production set by basic industries in 1929.

Mr. West need make no apologies for his optimistic statement. British Columbia obviously is going steadily ahead. It is to be hoped, of course, that there will be no disturbance in the economic or political field. Under wise administration, both at Ottawa and at Victoria, industry has been given a chance to expand. From Ottawa, for example, we get the news that Canada has climbed back again to fifth place among the trading nations of the world.

In four years this Dominion has doubled its external trade. Canada, once again, is nearing the two-billion-dollar mark—short of $600,000,000, of course, of the figure in 1929. Let it not be forgotten, however, that at the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1933, after nearly three years of Bennett rule and tariff meddling, this country's import and export trade had dwindled to the 1913 level.

Those days, fortunately, are over. As the retiring chairman of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said in Vancouver last night, we may "confidently look forward" to better times. These are words of encouragement.

"Aber"—But—Hart

OUR ENERGETIC AND ABLY-conducted contemporary, The Vancouver News-Herald, has exposed the foolishness of any attempt to take short cuts to stabilize our financial structure. Let the progressive morning daily on the mainland speak for itself:

"With the example of Alberta before us, it is a relief to be able to reflect upon the financial position of our own province.

"Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, gave an address in Victoria the other day in which he spoke of the province's status. He pointed out that the recent loan was obtained at the lowest rate ever paid in the history of British Columbia.

"Today (he said) British Columbia is known as the bulwark against short-cuts in finance."

"From what we know of the results of short-cuts in finance, we may rejoice that none was tried in this province. Mr. Aberhart thought he had found a short-cut in Alberta when he issued scrip to be used as money. That failed.

"He thought he had found another when he arbitrarily reduced the interest rates the province had promised to pay. Alberta's financial plight is as a result far worse today than when he took office and there is small prospect of it getting better so long as the present government remains in power.

"We regret very much that Mr. Hart wasn't able to lead us to a fairland of lots of money and no work, which seems to be the ideal of not a few persons in this world, but we are glad that British Columbia has come through the depression with its credit not merely unimpaired but considerably improved."

Doctrinaire Aberhart has not been able to deliver those material commodities to the people of Alberta which they had expected. Aber (that is German for "but"), British Columbia, fortunately, has a Hart.

Man's Great-uncle

FRAGMENTS OF BONE FROM A South African cave, described in the British science journal, Nature, by Dr. R. Broom of the Transvaal Museum, may prove to be some of the most significant fossils thus far turned up by science in its long search for facts bearing on the natural origin of man. For sketches of these bits of bone, sent by their discoverer to Dr. William K. Gregory of the American Museum of Natural History, "suggest the right characters for the adult of Australopithecus or a nearly allied form."

Australopithecus, or "the ape of the south," was first found in 1925 at Taung in Bechuanaland, by Prof. Raymond A. Dart of the Witwatersrand University, Johannesburg. The two fossils then discovered, a brain-cast and part of the bones of the face, were definitely those of an ape, but of an ape with more man-like characters than any previously known subhuman species, living or fossil. Australopithecus was apparently a real missing link.

Prof. Dart's specimens were those of a young specimen, just cutting its first permanent molar teeth. It was, therefore, of less value scientifically than an adult specimen might have been, because young apes and human children are always more alike than the adult forms become. Scientists, therefore, went on hopelessly hunting for fossils that would tell the story of what Australopithecus looked like when he grew up.

By an especial stroke of good fortune, the newly discovered material described by Dr. Broom also includes a brain cast, so that a direct comparison with the juvenile brain cast of the earlier find can be made, and comparisons with the brains of human beings and the brains of apes will also be possible. With this very important cast were also parts of the skull base and a fragment of the upper jaw, both important in giving some idea of the shape of the animal's head and of the appearance of at least the lower part of its face.

The age of the formation in which the fossils were found may be Pliocene, that is, the time just before the beginning of the world's latest great Ice Age, more than a million years ago. Since man's ancestry had already been well separated from the ape stock by the late Pliocene at least (and, indeed, man may have definitely appeared by then) it is not considered probable that Australopithecus was a direct ancestor. He must be looked upon as a collateral relative—a great-uncle rather than a grandfather. But he appears to have been a more nearly related great-uncle than any other great ape yet found perching near the main trunk of the human family tree.

Democratic Baldwin

IT IS NOT FOR US TO SAY whether the strike fever which has attacked Great Britain in the last week or so is due to a misunderstanding—a failure to recognize realities—between employee and employer, a clash between diversified conceptions of the relationship between what is euphemistically known as Capital and Labor.

That fine, conscientious British gentleman—and, after all, Conservative Prime Minister Baldwin is a gentleman in the fullest sense of the term—has appealed for industrial peace, especially as the Coronation ceremonial, and all that it entails, is only a few days away. This dispatch from London yesterday is worth quoting because it reveals a state of mind which almost marries the Conservatism of the Prime Minister to that of the leader of the official opposition, Major Attlee. The "bus" strike and the threatened "coal" strike, of course, form the basis of this interchange between Baldwin and Attlee. We quote:

Speaking after Mr. Attlee, Premier Baldwin had little to say about the dispute at Haworth itself, except that, as the whole House murmured approval, he had hopes a national strike would be averted, that there was nothing in the dispute which made settlement impossible. He spoke rather on broad principles. He agreed with Mr. Attlee on collective bargaining.

"What is the alternative to collective bargaining?" he asked. "There is nothing except anarchy, and there are really people in the world who would like to see anarchy. The other alternative is force. I would lay down that so long as the industrial system remains as it is collective bargaining is the right thing. I have no doubt about that."

Mr. Baldwin is one statesman of the world who has no axe to grind. It may be permitted to say, perhaps, that, while wearing the invisible Tory label, he is more Liberal than any member of the British House of Commons. He was the man who gave up half his fortune in the early war years—and it was a long time before the British public knew who this anonymous donor was.

As he goes into his voluntary retirement, Premier Baldwin will leave the impression on the mind of the working population of Great Britain that the worker, as well as the employer, has a right to be heard, a right to state his or her case, and have it considered on fair lines. So we say, Stanley Baldwin will leave office as one of the bulwarks of democracy—a man of the people.

Sato Speaks

FROM TOKYO TODAY COMES THE news that Japanese Foreign Minister Nao-take Sato, in an interview with foreign newspaper correspondents, that the policy of his country is that "by patient negotiation Japan hopes to establish friendly and mutually satisfactory relations with Britain, the Soviet Union, the United States, and China."

If Foreign Minister Sato was not speaking with his tongue in his cheek, he has before him a fine opportunity—in co-operation with the British Empire, the United States, and China, to try to lead an international movement in the interests of peace among the peoples of the world.

In view of his statement today, a still trusting world, a world demanding peace, will await the reaction to his observations. Does he mean what he says, or is he "pawing the political air?"

Notes

Another way to learn which things are important is to become sick enough to be frightened.

When eastern gravediggers went on a sit-down strike recently, the undertakers, annoyed, were understood to wish the men were deep in their work.

A survey just completed by Fortune Magazine shows that 19.8 per cent of those queried do not think the depression is over yet. Those who have been in the stock market during the last couple of weeks are probably having their doubts, too.

Not from a columnist trying to be funny, but from the sober London Daily Telegraph we take this: "Peers who take chocolate to the Abbey will place it in their inverted coronets. At the last Coronation they used them as sandwich holders."

She opened the door in answer to his knock. He stuck his foot in the door to make sure she did not shut it before he could stick a bill into her hand. She stuck her fist in his face to make sure he would withdraw the foot and the bill. He did so but charged her in court with assault. This all happened in London, Ontario, and the magistrate, Donald Menzies, ruled that "A woman has the right to defend her home."

Loose Ends

Young John Tweedie dreams of Canada—which must be bonny—for he comes of our breed—and he loves the old story of the Bruce—and the cave, which he will still show you for a shilling.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

IN SCOTLAND.

YOUNG SCOT

JOHN TWEEDIE is fifteen now. He has the vivid red complexion of Scotland, a fine, straight young body and a lovely, rich lowland burr in his speech, which makes you think of oatmeal porridge and skirling bagpipes.

John's job is to guard the cave where King Robert the Bruce saw the spider and went out and slew the English on the field of Bannockburn. The cave is carved into the bare cliff above the gentle current of the Kertie, just north of the border. John's eyes open wide with a boy's hero worship as he unlocks the door and lets you in.

He shows you the dark circular chamber, about sixteen feet across, which the ancient Scots of the stone age hollowed out with their flint chisels. He shows you the prisoners in the wall where they chained their prisoners up by the neck, and the rough, flat shelf cut out of the living rock to serve as a table.

SPIDERS STILL

HERE, SAYS JOHN, his boy's eyes sparkling, "was where the Bruce must have sat when the spider dropped down! Aye, and there's still spiders here, look!"

There are still spiders in this dank cave, descendants, no doubt, of the great insect of Scottish history, and there are webs, as in Bruce's time, against the mouldy ceiling.

"And look yе—there's the holes they fought out!" says John. "Wi' bows and arrows they fought! They hadna goons."

The two small holes through the front of the cave look down on the lush green glen of Kertie, half of it in England, half in Scotland. The Bruce must have looked down there many a time as he lay in his cave, hiding from the victorious English. Perhaps the English came there, searching for him, but they would never notice the cave, so cunningly it is masked with creepers and wild holly. Many a time beleaguered Irvings must have held out here against their enemies in the tribal wars of old Scotland, for they still find arrowheads of iron and flint and old blades of claymores in the little glen.

OLD STORY

AYE, ONE MAN could fight an army from here!" says John. "If they had found the Bruce they wouldna have taken him alive. See where he sat now—the rock's gouged out. It's verra comfortable—aye, a little damp, maybe, but verra comfortable."

This Scottish boy loves the old story. He comes of these people, who fought the English until they put a Scottish king on the throne of England and, when they couldn't fight the English, fought among themselves—the Irvings, the Johnstons, the Maxwells, the men who marched on uncloaked oatmeal and carried fire and sword across the border. Daffodils now grow in the garden above the Bruce's cave, and in the glen below, where he watched his enemies, a fat old horse rolls contentedly in the new spring grass. Life is too quiet for a boy like John Tweedie, who comes of the old breed. When I told him I came from Canada, his eyes sparkled again. Canada! He'd heard of Canada, all right—of Indians and cowboys and the old Scottish explorers.

INDIANS

OH, AYE! Canada must be bonny! I'd like it well to go to Canada! On a ranch, that would be fine, or in the north. Aye, I've an uncle and he was in the north, buyin' furs from the Indians. Are there still plenty of Indians?" he asked anxiously.

I told him there were still plenty of Indians. "Some day, when I get the money, I'd like to go out to Canada," he said. "Up in the north, buyin' furs from the Indians! But I've to get the money first."

SAME BREED

FOR THE MOMENT the money is an insuperable barrier to John, but one felt that he would overcome it, that he would get the money and go to Canada some day. His is the breed which pushed the frontier back, which walked through the Rockies, and rode in canoes down the Fraser to the Pacific, and held the lonely Hudson's Bay posts. Even though the yellow daffies grow around the Bruce's cave, and the canny owner charges you a shilling to see the spider webs, even though this sacred place of Scottish history has become a commercial investment, the old breed still lives on.

You see it in the poor, lean valleys, and in the barren highlands, where the Scots have wrung a living somehow from the soil and grown hard and strong in the process. You see it in young John Tweedie, who dreams of the Bruce and battles long ago, and wants to follow his Scottish ancestors into the north, into Canada.

"Aye, Canada must be bonny!"

I hope John Tweedie may see it for himself some day.

NEON, GAS OF SIGNS, ABUNDANT IN STARRY UNIVERSE

PHILADELPHIA. Neon, the gas that glows redly in modern advertising signs, is rare on earth, but very abundant in the starry universe as a whole, it was disclosed during discussion at the meeting of the American Philosophical Society here, following a report presented by Dr. Donald H. Menzel of Harvard College Observatory.

In some of the glowing gaseous nebulae that are included in our own galaxy neon is fully as abundant as oxygen, the most common element on earth, or even more abundant.

Dr. Menzel reported on the results of months of study of photographs of the eclipse observed last summer in Siberia. During this eclipse the corona, or pearly glowing halo that always surrounds the sun but can be seen and photographed only during eclipses, was far brighter than it has been in past eclipses. Earlier observations showed the corona about as bright as the moon, but during the Siberian eclipse it glowed sixty times brighter than the moon.

And so the words of Dr. Bayard T. Horton of Rochester, Minn., may well be heeded. According to him, recent studies have revealed that hypersensitivity to cold water has been responsible for many drownings, persons afflicted in this way being apt to collapse after entering the water. To determine whether you have the weakness, immerse one hand in ice water for five minutes. If your hand swells after removal, you are hypersensitive. Most persons, Dr. Horton advises, can be "desensitized" to cold water by immersing one hand in ice water for a minute or two twice a day for three or four weeks.

A simple procedure, certainly, if it means lessening the danger of losing one's life this summer.

700 Male Escorts For Coronation

LONDON.

As a result of the foresight of that enterprising young man, Ted Peckham, widows and other women, young and old, who plan to take in the Coronation festivities here unaccompanied by male members of their families, will not have to while away their evenings at the cinema or listening to the oratory inside the Marble Arch entrance to Hyde Park. For the originator of the widely publicized escort service has lined up no less than 700 presentable young men who, for an established fee, will be happy to accompany them to the theatre, to fashionable restaurants, night clubs or just take them strolling.

For some time Mr. Peckham has had an office in London and in Paris for lonely women, and business has been so flourishing that this summer he is planning to open branches at Rome and probably Budapest.

However, these minor business transactions will have to wait until after George VI and Queen Elizabeth have been duly crowned at Westminster Abbey. From London Mr. Peckham will go to Paris where he has another 700 or 800 members of the male sex lined up for the convenience of those planning to take in the Paris Exposition, scheduled to open a couple of weeks after the Coronation.

Mr. Peckham claims his aides are representative of England's and the Continent's oldest and most aristocratic families, including not only members of the nobility but also royalty.

SPRING GARDEN WEEK

To the Editor:—Mr. W. H. Warren's commentary on the Spring Garden Week and Flower Show is exceptionally well taken, and the president, secretary and other officials and other officials and members of Vancouver Island Horticultural Association, also given cash, press representative, Empress Hotel, are to be congratulated in their voluntary efforts, so that they do indeed merit greater support from the citizens as a whole, and may I add, the city fathers might well secure data showing them beyond question a worthwhile opening whereby their substantial support of the Horticultural Association's efforts will produce fine dividends from the ever-growing tourist trade so attracted to our city, and incidentally give us the benefits of an added tourist season.

WM. H. DAVIES

PRICE MAN PAYS

To the Editor:—Mrs. Colclough asks why there are so few "honest and humane men and women fighting a lone battle in the cause of justice, progress and right."

History tells us what happens to those who go too far to the "left." For example, what happened to such as Socrates, Jesus, Galileo, Servetus, Spinoza, Bruno, Dr. Carl Liebnich? It being only natural for most men to shrink from poison, crucifixion, fire, cold steel, starvation and slander there is no need to answer any further.

Man as he is today seems hardly worth the terrible price paid to lift him from the jungle to this thin veneer-like civilization. However, the end is not yet. Some will still continue to be sacrificed for their ideals, and due to this, through time and evolution, the end may yet justify the means.

M. E. BIRD.

QUESTIONS FROM A WOULD-BE BEAUTICIAN

To the Editor:—As the apprenticeship system of the hairdressers' association of Victoria seems to be all at sea, perhaps some of your readers would be kind enough to inform me through your columns with regard to the following questions:

Is there any school operating in Victoria where I could learn the business?

Must I go to Vancouver, where, in addition to the entrance fee, I would have to board and room during the period of training?

Is there any other way of learning the business, which I am eager and anxious to learn, and be perfectly willing to devote two or three years' apprenticeship?

INSECT PESTS GARDEN TOPIC

William Downes Urges Use of Earwig Bait in Horticultural Talk

Gardeners are warned not to stop using ordinary methods to combat earwigs because of the recent release of anti-earwig parasites.

"Continue to use earwig bait," William Downes, Dominion Entomologist, urged members of the Victoria Horticultural Society, in an instructive address on "Garden Insects" at the society's monthly meeting in the City Hall Tuesday evening. "The effect of the parasites will not be felt for many years yet. They are at the best experimental."

Mr. Downes described the work of his department in raising parasites and distributing them over the province. He pointed out that the earwigs had a big advantage over the parasites as there were probably billions of earwigs and only a few thousand parasites had been released to the present.

The entomologist dealt with a number of other common insect pests. The narcissus fly could be best controlled by fumigation, he said, and advised four ounces of bichloride to a square foot of bulbs.

Gladiolus thrips could be overcome by treating the bulbs with naphthalene or dipping them into a solution of corrosive sublimate in the ratio of one ounce to six gallons of water.

Mr. Downes also touched upon household pests, and best methods of their control. The entomologist's lecture was illustrated by most interesting slides.

D. D. McTavish, president of the society, was in the chair. Thanks of the society were extended to all those who had given flowers for the society's display at the recent spring flower show and those who had arranged the exhibit.

The president announced that the society's annual May flower show would be held in the A.O.F. Hall on Saturday, May 29.

Winners of the monthly competition according to an announcement made by F. E. Boulter, secretary, were as follows: Tulips, I. F. T. Rawlins; 2. J. Waddell; novice, A. Mann; spring cabbage, T. Wallace.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today
(From The Times File)
After an interval of forty-two years, the foundation stone of another church of St. John the Divine was laid on Saturday afternoon by the Bishop of Columbia. The new church is to be on the corner of Quadra and Mason streets.

In the valley lying between the Natimint Mountains and the Beaufort Range, a history-making ceremony took place on Saturday afternoon when W. J. Kerr, president of the Canadian Highway Association, in the presence of the population of the two Albertas and several hundred outside visitors, planted the most westerly post of the Canadian Highway at the foot of Johnston Street, on the east shore of the Alberni Canal.

Capt. George Delano formerly master of the barkentine Everett G. Griggs, who several months ago retired from that vessel, has decided to return to sea and will take command of the schooner W. H. Marsden, which will operate between the Columbia River and the west coast in the lumber trade.

Veterans Will Attend Service

Members of the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, will attend the Coronation celebration service to be held at St. John's Church, May 9.

About 300 members attended yesterday evening's meeting, following which a smoking concert was held.

The branch is strongly protesting the Crown appealing the pension case of one of its members, after the Pension Tribunal's findings had been in the man's favor on two occasions. A wire has been sent to the Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion at Ottawa requesting the matter be examined. Further protest will be sent to the Pensions Commission regarding its findings in the case.

Nine new members were welcomed into the branch by President John Neary. The following artists contributed to the programme: Al McKinnon, Johnny Gow, Peterson and Trace, Doug Park and Len Foster. Art Faray was the accompanist.

During the intermission Mr. Neary presented bowling cups and billiard trophies. Britannia United won the City Bowling League, for which it

Musical At "Arran" Is Success

About 100 members of the Victoria Musical Art Society enjoyed one of the most delightful afternoons on the season's programme yesterday when Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fletcher threw open their charming home, "Arran," York Place, for a musicale.

Masses of flowers were arranged in the entrance hall, drawing-room and sun-room, from each of which a beautiful panorama of sea and distant mountains enhanced the attractive neas of the setting. Mrs. Fletcher was assisted in receiving the guests by her daughter, Miss Margaret Fletcher, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Walter Fletcher, and by Mrs. Allan Peebles, president of the society.

Some of the winners in the recent Musical Festival appeared on the attractive programme which opened with the Haydn string quartet, winner of the Junior Musical Art Society's Cup at the festival composed of Taylor, the violinist, and John Plumm, first and second violins, respectively; Gilbert Margison, viola, and Herbert Botten, cello, who played the Haydn "Quartette, Op. 3, No. 2."

In the next group were three pianoforte solos by Miss Phyllis Muriel Hick, gifted thirteen-year-old pianist, who won the 10 Harold Samuel, her numbers being the Bach "Gigue," Frank Bridge's "Rosemary," and, as an encore, Percy Grainger's "Country Gardens."

Mrs. Allan Peebles sang three songs by W. H. Hadow, "While the West is Palling," "The Milkmaid," and "The Rose and the Nightingale," with, for an encore, Lina Lehmann's setting of Milne's amusing verses about Henry King's sad end. Mrs. F. M. MacPherson was the able accompanist.

The final group was by the Elizabethan Singers—Dorothy Parsons, soprano; Phyllis Deaville, mezzo-soprano; Dudley Wickett, tenor, and Jack Townsend, bass. Winners of the Metropolitan United Church Choir Cup at the festival, they sang Deems Taylor's "Mayday Carol," "Linden Lea" (Vaughan-Williams) and Sweeting's "Willow Tree," and were brought back for an encore, "Love Is Meant to Make Us Glad" (from Edward German's opera, "Merrie England"). F. T. C. Wickett was the accompanist.

TEA SERVED
Tea was served in the dining-room. Presiding at the tea table, with its handsome Florentine lace cloth, centred with an artistically arranged bowl of tulips in different shades mingled with forget-me-nots, and lighted with pale gold candles set in silver candelabra, were Mrs. J. O. Cameron, honorary president of the club; Miss Agnew, Mrs. C. S. Beals and Mrs. Allan Peebles. Assisting in serving were Gordon Cameron, Mrs. Fred M. McGregor and Mrs. Hetherington, and Misses Lucille King, Margaret George and Dorothy McMeekin. Mrs. R. D. McCaw, who presided at the tea arrangements, assisted by Mrs. T. W. A. Gray. Mrs. J. O. Cameron was responsible for the artistic floral decorations throughout the house.

First Court Brilliant Affair

English "Debs" Are Presented; Canadians Tonight

Canadian Press
London, May 6.—Two hundred English debutantes, with fourteen United States women, were presented to Their Majesties last night at the first court reception of the new reign. Tonight a second reception will be held when a number of Canadians will be presented. Other Canadians will be presented at the July 1 reception.

In shimmering gowns and scintillating jewels the presentees passed before the King and Queen as they stood in front of the gold and red velvet thrones at the end of the ballroom in Buckingham Palace.

Queen Elizabeth wore a gown of gold brocade with a scroll design, embroidered diamante and a cloth of gold train with embroidered jewel-colored crystals; a tiara and necklace of diamonds and rubies and the Order of the Garter.

The King wore the scarlet and gold uniform of a field marshal.

Behind them in the royal circle stood the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, the Princess Royal, Lady Maud Carnegie, the Earl and Countess of Athlone, Princess Helena Victoria and Princess Marie Louise.

The white and gold ballroom was decorated with roses and hydrangeas.

Tearoom Is Real Bit of England

Mrs. Ross Gardiner Prepares Delightful Spot On Dallas Road

"The tearoom with an atmosphere" describes the delightful new way-side inn opened yesterday by Mrs. Ross Gardiner at her home, 540 Dallas Road. A rambling English-type of cottage, with cheerful big windows and brightly-striped awnings; a wide, green lawn, clipped hedges, and beyond the sparkling blue of the Straits of Juan de Fuca, the splendor of the mighty Olympics, and in the west the soft shadows of the Sooke Hills. What more perfect setting could there be for entertaining at the tea hour?

If this were not enough, the inside of this cottage is even more fascinating. Here one finds many priceless bits of furniture and antiques that came from England around Cape Horn in the days of old sailing ships. H. E. Courtney, well-known Victoria lawyer, and a daughter of Mrs. Gardiner, has allowed many of the pieces from the old Courtney home on Cook Street to be used in furnishing this cottage.

Tea tables of black lacquer with dainty orange tea mats and matching china have been arranged in the spacious living-room, dining-room and sunroom. From the windows of all these rooms one may look out to sea. Mrs. Gardiner plans to serve a real English tea, hot biscuits, honey, Devonshire cream, tasteful jams and jellies and dainty cakes. Everything will be home made, perfectly cooked and tastefully served.

The English tearoom should become a popular rendezvous, not only for Victorians, but for all visitors and tourists who delight in finding a real bit of old England here.

Telephone Bridge Aids T.B. Work

To raise funds for their work, the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Tubercular Pavilion, Vernon Villa, arranged a series of telephone bridges, which were in progress from April 15 to May 1, under the convener'ship of Mrs. E. O'Brien and Mrs. T. G. Trudel. A very substantial amount was raised, for which the auxiliary wish to thank the many friends of the institution for their generous donations.

Prizes for the bridge were won as follows: Contract, ladies, Mrs. Shore; gentlemen, P. B. Corcoran. Auction, ladies, Mrs. Bantley; gentlemen, Mr. Doyle.

The responsibilities of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Tubercular Pavilion have grown considerably during the last year, with a greater number of patients housed at the villa, and an increase of hospitalization activity in the treatment of tuberculosis. It is gratifying to know that the membership is now large enough to be able to create ways and means to attend to more than the small needs of the institution.

Luncheon and an up-to-date gas stove has been purchased for Vernon Villa, through the efforts of the auxiliary.

Mr. H. Roe, Vancouver; Mr. O. W. Earle, Vancouver; Mr. E. J. Atherton, Vancouver; Mr. W. G. Metcalf, Vancouver; Mrs. R. H. Keen, City; Mr. Robert Bodie, Vancouver; Mr. C. E. Edmunds, Vancouver; and Mr. H. R. Carter, Alberni.

Ottawa, May 6.—Next week will start a programme of activity for the Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir that will keep them almost constantly on the move till next September 7.

They will take part next Wednesday in ceremonies here in connection with the Coronation in London of King George. That night they will preside over an official dinner at Government House.

May 15 they will entertain about 3,000 guests at a Coronation garden party in the Government House grounds. Three days later they will leave on a short tour through western Ontario, during which they will attend the running of the King's Plate, Canadian racing classic, at Woodbine track, Toronto, May 22.

For two weeks they will be in residence at the Citadel, Quebec, but will leave June 7 for a week's tour of the Maritime Provinces, returning to Quebec.

The Governor-General will come to Ottawa June 23 to speak before the annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association, returning to Quebec thereafter.

July 3 Their Excellencies will leave on a long trip through the west and northwest, visiting the Calgary stampede and going down the Mackenzie River to Aklavik. The Governor-General will make part of the trip by airplane.

He is expected thereafter to go to Tweedsmuir Park, near the mouth of the Bella Coola River in British Columbia where his countryman, Alexander Mackenzie, reached the waters of the Pacific at the end of his great trek across the continent from Montreal a century and a half ago.

It is expected the Vice-Regal party will return via Prince Rupert, traveling by train through the famous Totem Pole Reserve on the Skeena River.

The sum of $12 was voted towards the purchase of history prizes to be awarded to winners in St. Ann's Kindergarten, St. Ann's Academy and St. Louis College. An ice cream treat will be given to students of St. Louis College and St. Ann's Academy who took part in the recent musical festival.

Mrs. Simpson's Home Opened

Baltimore, May 6. — The one-time Baltimore home of Mrs. Warfield Simpson, fiancée of the Duke of Windsor, has been opened to the public at 50 cents a look.

There are five guides on hand to shepherd the curious. They are provided by "Two Hundred and Twelve East Biddle Street, Inc.," a slightly mysterious corporation that now has the destinies of the old house in hand. Just what individuals compose the corporation evidently is to be a secret.

The first thing the cash customers saw was a hallway, very much like any other hallway, glistening with fresh paint. On the left is the parlor. Some Victorian bric-a-brac sits about. On the walls are enlargements, framed, of Mrs. Simpson, surrounded by friends and relatives. Also there are portraits of the former King Edward VIII in various regalia, and Mrs. Simpson in her court presentation gown.

On the second floor is a model of Fort Belvedere and grounds, the former King's private residence near London. A large front room is adorned with cartoons and contains copies of many different newspapers of the constitutional crisis period.

The piece de resistance is saved for the last. It is Mrs. Simpson's bedroom on the third floor. It is roped off, so the customer may only peer from the doorways. A big double bed backs up to the east wall. It is not actually the bed Mrs. Simpson slept in, although the guide says a number of things in the house were there during her occupancy.

flower and bulb show will be held in the Royal Oak Community Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

These two sisters, snapped on the liner's deck, saw service in France with the First Canadian contingent.

Minister Opens Lovers' Church

Oklahoma City, May 6. — The women asked for and are going to get a "lovers' church." Its founder's fond hope is that plenty of men show up for services—and linger afterward.

The church, Dr. W. A. McKee, psychologist and retired college professor, explained, will consist of a brief service preceding the social feature. The first meeting will be held Sunday.

"The idea of the lovers' church is not necessarily for marriages and match-making but to expand the lives of its members. If the results incidentally lead to marriage, that's fine," he said.

"The average young woman sitting around home, or working in an office doesn't get a lot of opportunity to meet new men. She's handicapped, man is the hunter and women must be hunted."

Public Not To See Maharanees

Curtained Car For Indian Princess
At Coronation

Associated Press

London, May 6.—The beautiful, dark-eyed Maharanees of Jodhpur will watch the Coronation procession May 12 through a shield of fine gauze and curtains, so the public cannot see her. She chose to follow that Indian custom.

When the thirty-one-year-old Maharanees arrived in London by airplane, heavily veiled, she passed through a special canvas tunnel from the airplane to a waiting car.

Hotel corridors are cleared before she emerges from her suite, and she leaves the building by a back entrance. The car in which she drives through London has blue-tinted windows.

Her husband, the Maharajah, rules 2,500,000 persons and has an income estimated at $5,000,000 a year.

He looked up from his book and smiled a greeting. "Hello, Sybil. My dear. Feeling better?"

"Much better, thank you." She slipped out of the luxurious mink coat that had been his Christmas gift and sat down opposite him.

"Too much party?" he asked mildly.

Sybil shrugged. "The lobster salad, I guess. It never does me any good."

She lit a cigarette and leaned back, looking into the flames.

"We missed you at dinner. And Phil didn't show up either."

"He went to town early last night."

She knew her younger brother had not been at home all night, but instinctively she shielded him.

"He went to town early last night."

Her uncle said quietly. "He was in all before noon."

Sybil started. "Uncle John! What happened? Why didn't he call me?"

Hendry reached for his pipe on the low table beside him; mechanically he began to fill it.

"I dare say he was in no condition to call anybody. The police captain phoned me."

"But what happened to Philip? What did he do?"

"He was picked up for reckless driving and intoxication—fortunately before he happened to do anything."

Slowly he lit his pipe.

"He relaxed. 'Oh, that isn't so terrible,' she said, a shade of annoyance in her tone. 'After all, it was the Spring Frolic.'"

She shrugged, eloquently implying that the Frolic was an occasion for intoxication and reckless driving.

"Yes," her uncle went on, calmly, "but Phil's riding pretty high. Sybil, we've both spoiled him badly. He's almost twenty-five years old, and it's time he began to take life in earnest."

Then, with less severity in his voice, he added: "However, don't frown so about it, my dear. I'll talk turkey to Philip this time."

He chuckled. "I told the captain not to hurry him out. A few days on a hard cot might make him appreciate the comforts of his home."

Sybil gasped. "Uncle John! Philip can't stay in a dirty . . . where is he?"

Hendry shook his head. "Never mind, Sybil. That's the trouble with Phil—you've spoiled him too much."

He dismissed the subject with a wave of his hand. Then, rising, he suggested: "How about joining me in a bottle of wine, Sybil?"

"Perhaps just a little sherry, Uncle John. But I do wish you'd get Philip home. He might catch his death of cold . . ."

"Bosh!"

He went over to a cabinet against the wall. "If it's only sherry that I can give you, I have a decanter here . . ."

Abraham's probably dead to the world anyway. He is it he ate as much as he fed us."

He brought the wine over to the low table in front of the fire and poured out two glasses. "Here's to you, my dear, and for you the best of everything."

"Thank you, Uncle John." Sybil clicked her glass. She was still wondering how she could get Philip home. It seemed a pity her uncle couldn't try to understand him. After all, there was no need for all this fussing about Philip getting down to work. Why should he work? There was plenty of money.

Her uncle suddenly interrupted her thoughts. "Were you surprised to hear of Bob's getting himself engaged?" he asked.

Sybil's face, even in the firelight, paled. She put her glass down, carefully, lest her shaking fingers betray her.

"I was very much surprised, of course," she replied, with exaggerated indifference.

Hendry smiled. "To tell the truth," he said, "I was surprised myself. For a while it seemed as if this was one deal Bob couldn't put over."

Sybil smiled, a trifle disdainfully. "You men are so naive, Uncle John," she murmured. "It seems to me that Miss Barrett has played her cards quite cleverly. She's doing very well for herself, don't you think?"

"Of course she is. I'd say Bob Andrews is just about the most eligible young man in the city. But aside from that, he's getting a fine girl in Joan."

"Perhaps," Sybil's lip curled. "Some people might think he could have done much better."

"What do you mean? Joan Barrett's a beautiful girl—intelligent, charming, sensible. What more could a man want?"

"Background, I suppose. Family . . . tradition . . . those things are important, Uncle John, even though you persistently overlook them. What does Bob know about this girl? What do you know of her, for that matter?"

He sat up in surprise. "What do I know of her? Why, bless my soul, hasn't she been working for me, right in my own office, every day for the past two years?"

He was a little annoyed at Sybil's attitude. He might have told her how Joan Barrett had started him that first day she stepped into the office, looking for all the world like his Nancy had, so many years before.

The same blue eyes, clear and honest, with just a touch of sadness in their depths. The same golden curls. The same warm smile. She might have been Nancy's own daughter. His daughter, for that matter. And Sybil dared prattle about background! Fiddlesticks!

"You know that she's an efficient stenographer," Sybil persisted maliciously. "But what can you learn about a girl's private life from that? What was she before she came to your offices?"

Hendry frowned. "She worked in Chicago, for Ward & Cleaver, one of the biggest bond houses in the country." He finished his sherry with a gulp and sat back in his chair.

Sybil pursued the subject no further, but she smiled with inward satisfaction. Ward & Cleaver. That was a definite starting point. She'd write to Bill Harris in Chicago. He knew every bond house in the city. He could find out anything she needed to know. Better still, she might send Philip a letter.

She finished her sherry, and licked her lips slowly, like a treacherous, greedy cat with a mouse within its grasp.

Ward & Cleaver, Chicago. She'd start an inquiry immediately. It wouldn't take long.

It was almost midnight when Sybil returned to her own home. She had left her uncle in a particularly jovial frame of mind, and she felt certain that he would relent in the matter of Philip. She decided to wait up an hour or so, in case her brother did get home that night. It would not do for him to believe that she had let him down, because she meant to have him do something for her. As a matter of fact, she rarely failed him. Philip was extravagant, impetuous and utterly irresponsible, yet he had a certain reckless charm which compelled her admiration. It might have been that she understood his faults because the same desires smoldered within her. If she were better able to control them than he was, it was because she viewed the world's tolerance with more calculation.

There was Uncle John, for one thing. Despite the trust fund which her father had left them, Uncle John was still an economic necessity, and his principles must be appeased. That task Sybil took unto herself and she handled it well.

Jennings, the butler, looked into the living-room.

"I put your car in the garage, Miss Sybil," he announced sedately. "Will there be anything else?"

"No, Jennings, nothing more." She picked up a magazine and settled herself on the divan. "By the way, did my brother call while I was out?"

"No, Miss Sybil. There were no calls."

"Thank you. Don't bother with the lights. I'm staying up a while."

"Very well, Miss Sybil." He withdrew quietly, leaving an oppressive stillness about the room.

Sybil turned the pages of the magazine listlessly and listened to the hall clock tick off the seconds. The house seemed chilly, she thought.

FRIENDLY HELP HAS CAMPAIGN

Drive For $8,500 Will Open On May 10 and Last One Week

A campaign for funds for the Friendly Help Welfare Association will be held from May 10 to 18, inclusive. The campaign executive of which E. W. McMullen is chairman, hopes to raise $8,500 in order to finance the Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp and the regular work of the association until the end of the year.

Notices of the campaign have been sent to many citizens, and will be followed next week by a personal visit from one of the hundred canvassers who have signed up for the work. All the canvassers will carry authority for collecting for the association, and will be able to answer questions about the work.

The Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp will need $2,000 to provide a two weeks' holiday for 225 mothers and children. The camp will be open from June 22 to August 31, and will be available to families who have no other way of obtaining a holiday. Those recommended by public health nurses and social agencies will have first consideration.

The all-year programme of the association is family case work, which aims at preserving family life so that it may offer the best training ground for the development of good citizenship. Illness and nervous disorders in parents and children, friction in the home, the worry of economic insecurity, are some of the things that bring families to the Friendly Help Welfare Association.

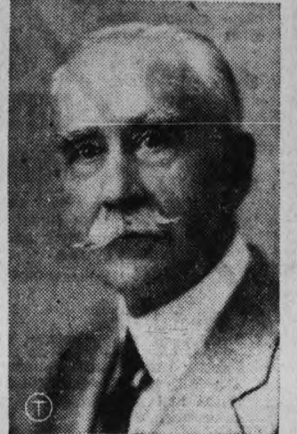

ST. MARY'S TROOP

The weekly meeting of the St. Mary's Troop was opened Friday evening by Duty Patrol Leader Ken Robinson. Complete plans for Coronation Day were announced as follows: Troop will parade to the morning service at the Parliament Buildings and in the afternoon will be in attendance at the Oak Bay schools celebrations and to the Scouts' beacon in the evening.

It was also announced that the troop's display in the Spring Flower Show won first place. This was arranged by several of the patrol and troop leaders. Games were played during the evening, the first being a three-team tug-of-war contest, followed by a hopping relay race. Two more games were enjoyed, after which the troop took part in a drill practice for Coronation Day. Charley Maunsell received his carpenter's badge. All scouts of the troop are asked to make a special effort to attend next Friday evening's meeting, in order to practice the order of events on the afternoon of Coronation Day.

Repeats Music After Fifty Years

Fifty years ago "Zadok the Priest" was sung at a special service to commemorate Queen Victoria's jubilee held at Christ Church Cathedral on the evening of June 20, 1887.

Herbert Kent recalls the event as he received the appointment of choir leader at the cathedral on June 8, 1887.

The anthem put into his hands to be sung at the jubilee service was "Zadok the Priest," so that he had exactly three weeks to train the choir, boys and men, no light undertaking as the members of the Victoria Choral and Orchestral Union can testify.

Mr. Kent, who is an enthusiastic member of the Choral Union and will take part in the singing of "Zadok" at the Coronation festival on May 13 and 14 at Christ Church Cathedral.

YOUTH SERVICE AT CATHEDRAL

All Young People Invited to Take Part in Big Gathering Next Sunday

A service for young people will be held in Christ Church Cathedral next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in line with services of a similar character the world over, and especially throughout the British Empire, led by one to be held in Westminster Abbey on the same day.

Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Cubs, Sunday schools, A.Y.P.A.'s and other youth organizations from Victoria and district, will take part. The service will be also open to all young people as well as parents and others interested.

Bishop Gaudet will officiate, assisted by members of the clergy and Rev. Arthur Bischlager will give a short address. A special form of service has been arranged, with G. Jennings Burnett at the organ. The singing will be entirely congregational.

The lesson will be read by Master Ted Burley, a pupil of St. John's Sunday school.

Many organizations propose to march to the cathedral with their banners.

Rev. G. R. V. Bolster and Rev. F. Vernon Venables are in charge of arrangements.

BACK USE OF TOTALIZATORS

Complaints against the errors occurring through the use of the automatic totalizators at the Willows track were considered by the executive of the British Columbia Agricultural Association yesterday. Following considerable discussion, in which both council members on the board and other executive members supported maintenance of the machines, the executive referred the matter back to the City Council.

J. B. Clearhuc, K.C., stated the machines were in use in England, Europe, Australia and the United States for the protection of the public. Mayor Andrew McGavin firmly supported the machines and stated his conviction the council would not permit their elimination.

Present at the meeting, over which D. D. McTavish, vice-president of the association, presided, were: Mayor Andrew McGavin, Aldermen W. Lloyd Morgan, R. A. C. Dewar, W. T. Straith, Dr. J. D. Hunter and Commander C. H. R. Slingsby, J. B. Clearhuc, K.C., W. H. Mearns.

Major A. C. Hinton and Capt. G. E. Walls conducted the inspection. George Deane, school inspector, and Kenneth Ferguson, P. E. George and Major S. Robertson were also present.

Beatty Sees Federal Waste

Montreal, May 6.—That the future welfare and business prosperity of Canada depend in large measure on the soundness of the fiscal policy of the governing authorities, and that there is as yet no certainty that economic waste such as that now evident in connection with relief and railways will be terminated as rapidly and as firmly as the necessities of the case demand, were views expressed here by Sir Edward Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in his address at the annual meeting of the shareholders here yesterday.

FARM GAINS

Sir Edward reviewed the progress made by the railway company during the year, and after pointing to the unfavorable crop conditions of recent years as largely responsible for losses in revenue, stated there was reason to expect that traffic to and from the agricultural areas would in the next few years exceed the average of the last few years.

"Notwithstanding the diminution in earnings from grain and grain products which followed the poor harvest of the past season," he said, "the gross earnings of the company for the first quarter of 1937 increased 8.1 per cent. Net earnings increased 28.8 per cent. Passenger earnings increased 5.8 per cent and freight earnings increased 7.8 per cent. Car loadings of pulp and paper increased 19.4 per cent, lumber 32 per cent, ore 26.4 per cent and manufactures and miscellaneous 28 per cent.

Steamship traffic on the Atlantic and Pacific had showed improvement.

With respect to the trans-Canada air lines, Sir Edward said that notwithstanding that the Canadian Pacific was to provide one-half the capital, the government proposed that three directors be selected by the government, three by the Canadian National and three by the Canadian Pacific. It was felt it would not be in the interest of the company to join unless it could do so as an equal partner, with a voice in the management in keeping with its share of capital investment, and not with a minority representation after providing one-half the capital.

The retiring directors, Sir Edward Beatty, John W. McConnell, Rt. Hon. Lord Shaughnessy and Senator J. Macdonald Wilson, were re-elected. At the meeting of directors following the annual meeting of shareholders, Sir Edward Beatty was re-elected chairman and president, D. C. Coleman vice-president, and Sir Edward Beatty, Mr. Coleman, and Sir Herbert S. Holt, W. H. Tilley, K.C., Sir Charles Gordon and Ross H. McMaster, members of the executive committee for the ensuing year.

"PLAY DAY" IS GREAT SUCCESS

Many Attend Fine Event at Victoria High School Yesterday Afternoon

A large number of parents and friends of Victoria High School students yesterday afternoon attended a girls' "Play Day," presented under the direction of Miss Harriet E. A. Doull, girls' physical training instructor. The event was staged on the grounds of the High School.

The programme included tennis, hockey, softball, volleyball, archery, badminton, folk dancing, and provided an opportunity for every student to participate. Well organized games were directed by students, placed in charge for the day.

Folk dancing on the lawn under the direction of Miss Doull was among the outstanding items.

The three tennis courts of the school were busy all afternoon with a number of keenly contested sets being played under the direction of A. Morrison, D. McBain, H. Manning and P. Whyte.

Four hockey games were played under the direction of H. Smith, E. Peden, D. McBain, E. Peden, A. Peden and H. Manning.

Twelve softball matches were played under the direction of H. Smith, E. Peden, A. Peden, K. Gahan, P. Whyte, A. Morrison and H. Smith as umpires. Four games of outdoor basketball and several games of badminton were played.

The Victoria Archers' Club gave a demonstration of archery.

CHEMIST WINS $1,000 PRIZE

New York, May 6.—The $1,000 prize of the American Chemical Society for 1937 has been awarded to Dr. E. Bright Wilson Jr., assistant professor of chemistry in Harvard University. It is announced here. The award, bestowed annually upon a scientist under thirty-one years of age and of unusual promise, goes to Dr. Wilson, who is twenty-nine, for his experimental work in physical chemistry.

Dr. Wilson was born in Gallatin, Tenn., attended New York city schools and Lawrenceville School, and in 1930 received the degree of Bachelor of Science from Princeton University, with highest honors in chemistry.

At Princeton he received the degree of Master of Arts in 1931, and at the California Institute of Technology received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1933.

The prize will be formally presented to Dr. Wilson at the ninety-fourth meeting of the society to be held in Rochester, N.Y., September 6 to 10. Maintained by Dr. A. C. Langmuir of Hastings-on-Hudson, N.Y., and his brother, Dr. Irving Langmuir, Nobel prize winner in chemistry, it provides for "recognition of the accomplishment in North America of outstanding research in pure chemistry by a young man or woman, preferably in a college or university."

Coronation service in Westminster Abbey this morning.

Others present included the Princess Royal's husband, the Earl of Harewood; Lady Patricia Ramsay, daughter of the Duke of Connaught; Princess Alice and the Earl of Athlone; Princess Marie Louise and Princess Helena Victoria, and the Duke and Duchess of Norfolk and the Duke's sister, Lady Rachel Howard.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning, and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from any druggist, a package of Hemoroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Cadet Corps Is Inspected

Smart and correct from head to foot, the cadet corps of Oaklands School went on parade for inspection yesterday afternoon with hopes of capturing provincial honors for the fifth consecutive time.

Led at times by young officers and at times by A. J. Stevenson, who is in charge of the corps, the main body of boys displayed military formations and manoeuvres, exercises and games, while the signalling and first aid corps were busy in other parts of the

Canadian Leads Yankees to Smashing Win

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

ANYBODY who might harbor any doubts about the courage of the weaker sex should have been around the Oak Bay golf links on Tuesday when fifty-eight of British Columbia's leading players fought their way around eighteen holes with a miniature gale blowing. The writer walked around a few holes and doesn't mind admitting he nearly perished and was mighty glad to return to the warm comforts of the clubhouse.

Outside of a few remarks such as "beastly weather," "it was terrible" etc., the women took the miserable conditions all in good part. As a matter of fact, several of them arrived back at the clubhouse appearing as if they had been through a hurricane. Some of them youngsters, weighing not much more than 100 pounds, were nearly carried off their feet while playing the seventh and eighth holes out on the point. They were literally "blown to ribbons" but did they do a lot of blowing? Not a bit of it beyond a few breezy expressions.

Of the entire field only a couple of the players talked about scratching and they were soon talked out of the idea. And the ones who seemed to enjoy the tough going the most were the veterans, like Mrs. E. Jackson, medalist, Mrs. Walter Parry, Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, Mrs. Alex Watson and Mrs. M. W. Patterson. Of course these seasoned players have been through it many times before and to them it was just another day of golf. Just the same they are to be admired for their sportsmanship.

In glancing over the field in the current tournament one is struck by the absence of many names once familiar to British Columbia championships. How well we can remember when players such as Mrs. Vera Hutchings, Mrs. F. S. Seward-Wilson, Mrs. E. C. Sweeney, Mrs. J. Hutchinson and Marjorie Todd were feared in the provincial title play. Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Sweeney have retired from competitive golf; Mrs. Hutchinson is now in New Zealand; Mrs. Seward-Wilson now lives in England while Marjorie Todd is taking a rest from competitive golf. The latter, still in her early twenties, is reported to be having trouble with her game at the present time. This youngster had all the makings of a great player but has slipped back the last year.

The New York Yankees ball players have dubbed one another with colorful, crazy nicknames—some of them hard to explain.

For instance, Lefty Gomez is known as Six O'Clock, because he's straight up and down and skinny like the hands of the clock, while Pat Melone is called Quarter Past Twelve because of his paunch.

Joe Glenn is Clark Gable or Frankenstein. Jake Powell is Zion-check or Firestone. Bill Dickey is My William. Lou Gehrig is Tarzan. Arndt Jorgens is Schnozzola. Roy Johnson is Wahoo or Mad Bull. Frank Crosetti is Little Dago. Joe DiMaggio is Big Dago. Tony Lazzeri is Nino. Monte Pearson is Hook. Red Rolfe is Maggie. Johnny Murphy is Grandma. Johnny Broaca is Abe. Walter Brown is Jumbo. Red Ruffing is Drizzle Puss. Myrl Hoag is Chick. Don Heffner is Yankee. Jack Salzgaver is Lippy. George Selkirk is The Foreigner.

There will be something more at stake than the major portion of a $50,000 purse when No. 1, owned and trained by Mary Hirsch, starts in the Kentucky Derby on Saturday. Victory would make his owner the first woman ever to train a Derby winner.

Women have had their names in Derby history as owners, but Mary, more at home in breeches and leather boots, is shooting for a record. Mrs. R. M. Hoots won the derby in 1924 and was followed by Mrs. J. D. Hertz in 1928, Mrs. Payne Whitney in 1931 and Mrs. Dodge Sloan in 1934. Mary broke into the training game two years ago when the New York Jockey Club granted her a license, the first in turf history to be granted a woman. Max Hirsch, noted trainer, objected for a long time but finally gave his daughter permission to train.

Selkirk Clouts Pair of Homers Against Detroit

Victory Over Tigers 7 to 3 Places Champions Game Ahead in American

Dizzy Dean In Fourth Victory

Even the most veteran viewer-with-alarm couldn't find a thing to worry about today for those New York Yankees.

On top of the return of their hitting power and the unusual skill of their supposed pitching staff, the world champions were as full of cheer as a Christmas punch bowl over the overnight signing of Charley (Red) Ruffing, their number one hurler of 1936.

They started their first western invasion three days ago in second place, a game back of the Detroit Tigers. Given the rest they love best to crack the walloped Detroit twice in a row, turning in a 7 to 3 win yesterday, with George Selkirk blasting two home runs and Monte Pearson posting an eight hit, eight strikeout performance, that pulled the swat squad to the top by a full game.

Although pitchers generally came a dime-a-dozen on yesterday's big league programme, the great Dizzy Dean and Cy Blanton, along with Pearson, were notable exceptions. Dizzy, aided by five gas house gang homers, turned in his fourth straight victory, a 13 to 1 win over the Boston Bees.

FOUR STRAIGHT

Blanton, top flinger on the Pittsburgh Pirates' crack staff, fanned eight and allowed but five hits in pitching the Bees to a 5 to 1 win over the Brooklyn Dodgers, their fourth straight, to keep the Pittsburghers a game and a half in front in the National League.

The New York Giants pitching, in the person of Pat Freddy Fitzsimmons and his knuckle ball, was given a thorough going over by Cincinnati's aroused Reds. With Alex Kampouris clubbing two of four Red homers, the roughhouse Reds won their second victory of the season, 8 to 5, over the National League champions.

Also in a homer-hammering mood were the Chicago Cubs, who belted the Phillies, 17 to 4, to stretch their streak to five straight.

Outside of the Yanks-Tigers to-do, the only other American League game was in Chicago, where the Philadelphia Athletics staged a six-run rally in the eighth to top the White Sox, 7 to 6.

COAST LEAGUE

A triple play, good pitching and perfect fielding won a baseball game for the Mission Reds, their first victory in eight starts.

The Reds, most consistent losers in the Coast League baseball game, defeated Los Angeles 5 to 3 yesterday. They gave their right-handed pitching ace, Leroy Herrmann, errorless assistance, while he limited the Angels to eight scattered hits for his third win in six starts.

In the triple play, the Angels' Arnold Stang singled to open the eighth inning and Marvin Gudat followed suit. Then Goldie Holt bounced a fast one down the third base line to Steve Barath. Barath tagged Stang, forced Gudat at second by his toss to Don Johnson, who rifled the ball to Stang.

Seattle's nosed out Portland in a twelve-inning game last night, 7 to 6, and San Diego easily defeated San Francisco, 7 to 2.

NEW CRICKET RULE ADOPTED

M.C.C. Announces Leg-before-wicket Regulation Is Now Law

London, May 6.—Acclaimed as a success by players and umpires, the new leg-before-wicket rule, adopted experimentally for the last two years in England, has been incorporated in the laws of cricket. Announcement was made yesterday by the Marylebone Cricket Club, governing body of the sport, the new rule had been officially and unanimously endorsed.

The experiment is said to have improved the game, forced batsmen to make more strokes, given greater encouragement to bowlers and led to a large number of matches being finished.

The amended rule reads: "The striker is out lbw if with any part of his person (except the hand) which is between wicket and wicket, he intercepts a ball which, in the opinion of the umpire at the bowler's wicket, shall have been pitched in a straight line from the bowler's wicket to the striker's wicket, or shall have been pitched on the off-side of the striker's wicket and would have hit it."

Local Eight Will Row In Vancouver

J.B.A.A. Crew to Oppose V.R.C. and Seattle Shells in Feature of Coal Harbor Coronation Regatta On Saturday

Groomed to a keen edge for their first big event of the season, the James Bay Athletic Association eight prepared today to carry Victoria's colors in the Vancouver Rowing Club's Coronation regatta over the Coal Harbor course on Saturday.

The local crew, with few changes from that which showed exceptional form last year, will be racing the University of Washington and Vancouver eights for the Herb Fullerton trophy.

Arnold Mann will stroke the Victoria shell, with Chris Usher rowing seven, Don Davis six, Jack Macdonald five, Hugh Francis four, Max Winkler three, James Temple two and Bill Seattle bow. Bobby Webster will be coxswain.

MAY ROW IN FOURS
The Victorians may also split their crew to send a four against the Seattle and Vancouver boys.

The eight-oared featured will be rowed over the Henley distance and the winner will hold the harbor championship for the year.

The Bays looked for a double challenge in the race, Vancouver's leading crew recently set a new course record for the distance on Lake Washington when the Terminal City club defeated the Huskies, and the Seattle boys have been no slouches in races against Victoria in other seasons. During the regatta, second eights of Vancouver and Seattle will also compete over the same distance, and all three cities are expected to be represented in the four-oared mile.

SAILORS WIN CUP FIXTURE

Beat Seven-man Wanderers Team 3 to 2 in Rennie & Taylor Cup Soccer

Navy footballers fired all of two score shots at their opponents' goal, but the best they could do was sink a bare three, thus just managing to crawl out of a Rennie and Taylor Cup semi-final match with a seven-man James Bay Wanderers' team at the Athletic Park with a 3 to 2 victory, yesterday afternoon.

Taking the field with a pair of backs, two halves and three forwards the James Bay boys didn't stand much chance against the full-force opposing eleven. They were on the defensive all afternoon. Their attacks were but few and far between, although they did net two goals during those rare occasions. Far more Navy attempts sailed past the uprights than came at the goal, and most of these were well-handled by Goalie Charlie Sadler.

The half-time score read 1 to 0 for the Navy. This goal was scored by Alec Ross, pivot operator, with a fine first-timer from quite a distance, a few minutes after the game opened.

SECOND HALF

Three minutes of the final session had elapsed when a fine combination play between Ross and DeCosta resulted in the latter sagging the hem. The shot was taken from close in. After continual heavy pressing at the Wanderers' end for the next fifteen minutes the sailors were finally rewarded. Williams headed the leather between the posts, to make the count read 3 to 0.

It was during one of the James Bay club's attacks some time later that W. Sadler crossed nicely from the right lane and Les Gelling, centre forward, bounced it off his head into the net. Seven minutes of the fixture was left when a hand ball was called against Bruce Robinson. Navy centre half, in his own penalty area, Les Gelling ploughed the leather past Goalie Bert Barker, to bring the Wanderers to within a goal of the Navy. There was no more scoring during the remainder of the tussle.

Dave McMillan refereed.

The teams were:
Navy—Barker, Hubbert, Dovey, Cockill, Robinson, Hutton, Brown, Williams, Ross, DeCosta and Walker.
James Bay Wanderers—C. Sadler, White, Gelling, Geoghegan, Ball, Gelling and W. Sadler.

It is between wicket and wicket, he intercepts a ball which, in the opinion of the umpire at the bowler's wicket, shall have been pitched in a straight line from the bowler's wicket to the striker's wicket, or shall have been pitched on the off-side of the striker's wicket and would have hit it."

Tacoma—Walter Woods, 160, New York, outpunted Tommy Jones, 151½, Fall River, Mass., negro, (10).

Expect Fifty For Ring Battles Here

Entry List at Forty Mark For B.C. Boxing and Wrestling Championships; Meet Opens Tomorrow in Empire Theatre

A half hundred boxing and wrestling contenders will crowd into the dressing-rooms at the Empire Theatre to prepare themselves for participation in the annual British Columbia championship tournament, which will get underway tomorrow night at 7 o'clock.

Entry Clerk Albert Taylor at the City Hall reports that yesterday's mail swelled the total entry list to forty, and he was expecting more to today's delivery. All of which points to one of the best gatherings of budding performers for a title meet ever to be staged in Victoria.

A good following of fight fans is expected to crowd into the spacious theatre to watch the youngsters do their stuff. Under the sponsorship of the Civic Employees' Federation of Greater Victoria, the two-day tournament will conclude Saturday night when most of the finals will be staged.

Uplands Holds Club Tourney

Uplands Golf Club members will commence play in the club championship on Sunday with the qualifying round of eighteen holes. Thirty-two will qualify and the balance will be formed into flights. To be in the draw entries must be made before 4 o'clock tomorrow, but post entries will be accepted up to 12 o'clock noon.

In the event that there are any ties for places in the different flights these must be decided on the same day, or the names will be drawn for places.

The first round of match play will be on Wednesday, May 12. Entrants unable to play on that day must decide their match on or before Saturday, May 15. The second and third rounds will be played on Sunday, May 16, with the thirty-six hole semi-finals on June 6, and the final on June 13.

Set Up Track Records

Indiana University runners set the pace on the opening day of the Penn Relays on Franklin Field, Philadelphia. In top photo, Tommy DeCard gracefully clears one of the more troublesome hurdles and hazards in winning the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 9 minutes and 21 seconds, breaking the carnival mark of 9 minutes and 28.5 seconds. In lower photo is the Indiana intercollegiate distance medley relay team which bagged the event in 10 minutes and 47 seconds to tie the U.S. record, set by the Olympic club team of San Francisco in 1935, and break the meet record of 10 minutes and 14 seconds. The first man runs 440, the second 880, the third three-quarters of a mile, and the last a mile. Left to right, the Indiana fliers who spreadeagled the field are Sam Miller, Mel Trutt, Jimmy Smith, and Don Lash. Lash ran the mile in 4:13.8.

A half hundred boxing and wrestling contenders will crowd into the dressing-rooms at the Empire Theatre to prepare themselves for participation in the annual British Columbia championship tournament, which will get underway tomorrow night at 7 o'clock.

Frank Glover, veteran fistic performer of Vancouver, and holder of the Vancouver light-heavyweight crown, will head the mainland boxing contingent. Rex Carey, holder of the provincial middleweight title, and Bobby Parker, bantamweight champion, are two of Victoria's main threats for boxing honors. This pair will enter the ring under the banner of the Canadian Scottish.

WALLACE WILL DEFEND TITLE
Signs For Bout With Frankie Genovese; Promoters in Squabble

Canadian Press
Toronto, May 6.—Claiming priority to services of Gordon Wallace, Vancouver fighter, for a Canadian welterweight championship bout, Playfair Brown, promoter, said last night he would ask for a special meeting of the Ontario Athletic Commission to restrain Jack Corcoran from staging the Wallace-Frankie Genovese bout here May 14.

Wallace signed to defend his title against the Toronto Italian and articles for the bout were submitted to the Ontario Commission yesterday. But Brown claims he has first rights on Wallace's title performance in eastern Canada and says Jack Allen, the champion's manager, had no right to match his charge with Genovese.

"I have no claim on an overnight match," said Brown, "but I do think I'm within my rights when I ask for an investigation to determine if Allen can do business with somebody else when I had an original contract for Wallace's services in the east."

Brown brought Wallace to Toronto to meet Sammy Luftspring. The champion broke his hand during the bout but was able to gain a decision. Genovese has dropped two verdicts to Luftspring but is confident he can knock the title crown off the coast brawler's head.

Corcoran, promoter for the Queensbury Club, thinks Genovese earned the nod in his last bout with Luftspring, and signed the Italian, confident he would draw a good gate in a bout with Wallace. More than 8,000 fans, the largest fight crowd here in years, saw the Vancouver boxer beat Luftspring.

Six Out of Eight Quarter-finalists in British Columbia Championship at Oak Bay Are Local Contenders; Miss Kay Farrell, Vancouver, Defending Champ, Wins

Victoria had six contenders and Vancouver two left in the battle for the British Columbia women's golf championship following the first round of match play at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday. With ideal weather conditions prevailing the players engaged in some thrilling matches.

Miss Kay Farrell, defending champion, and Miss Lillian Boyd were the only two mainland players able to survive the strong play of local entries. The former turned back Mrs. I. South, Uplands, 4 and 3. Taking the first three holes the invader got away to a flying start and was never headed the remainder of the way. Miss Boyd sprang a surprise by putting out Mrs. S. Enke, 2 and 1. Runner-up for medal honors on Tuesday Mrs. Enke was expected to go places. The pair engaged in a nip and tuck affair with the Vancouver player winning on the seventeenth green.

MEDALIST WINS
Mrs. E. Jackson, Uplands, winner of the medal honors Tuesday, with her smart 85, had a real tough match yesterday, defeating Mrs. Peter Traill, Vancouver, 2 and 1. Mrs. Jackson held a 1 up lead at the tenth hole and held it until the fourteenth when she scored a brilliant birdie two to go 2 up. The match ended on the seventeenth.

Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, Uplands, holder of the city championship, advanced safely through the first round at the expense of Mrs. J. McIlraith 1 up. The city champ was carried to the final green to win and this match was featured by stymies. Mrs. McIlraith had four to contend with and Miss Mackenzie-Grieve three. Reaching the eighteenth tee all square Miss Mackenzie-Grieve secured a par four to win the hole and the match.

Mrs. B. R. Philbrick engaged in another close affair when she eliminated Miss W. Evans, Vancouver, 1 up. After being 1 down at the tenth the home club veteran finally squared the match and won it on the home green. Mrs. Hew Patterson, another Oak Bay entry, eliminated her Jubmate, Mrs. H. N. Lay, 4 and 3.

In another intercity battle Miss Dorothy Fletcher, Uplands, accounted for Miss Mary Wood, Vancouver, 2 and 1. The Victoria girl got away well and at the twelfth was 4 up. Miss Wood won the fifteenth and sixteenth holes only to have her opponent end the match on the seventeenth.

An all-Victoria match saw Mrs. Art Dowell, Uplands, eliminate Mrs. Walter Parry, Oak Bay, 4 and 3. After getting a birdie four on the first hole Mrs. Dowell reached the turn 2 up. Mrs. Dowell won the tenth to boost her margin and finally ended play on the fifteenth.

Quarter-finals were being played today with the semi-finals tomorrow and the finals Saturday.

Varsity Ruggers Win

Associated Press
Los Angeles, May 6.—The University of British Columbia rugby team defeated Hollywood last night, 27 to 5, after the movie city team had counted all its points in the first three minutes.

Howie McPhee, three-quarter, scored four times for twelve of the Canadians' points. Dave Carey, scrum half, converted three times for six points, and Jim Harner and Joe Andrews, forwards, scored once each. Hollywood's points were scored by Bill Berger. A crowd of 4,500 watched the game in Gilmore Stadium.

SWIM RECORDS ARE CLAIMED

Vancouver Aquatic Stars Shatter Seven Canadian Records in City Gala

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 6. — Vancouver swimmers claimed seven new Canadian records, five senior and two junior, today, and awaited only sanction of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association to make them official.

The records were claimed last night at a city championship gala, and officials believed other fast times recorded at the swim would be set up as official marks in events where no records now exist.

Joan Langdon, fourteen-year-old protégé of Coach Percy Norman's Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club, did the 220 yard girls' breaststroke in 3:19.3-5, lowering the junior mark of 3:38 flat held by Eva Erskine, Toronto, and the senior record of 3:31 held by Kay Reynolds, Toronto.

ANOTHER DOUBLE
In the 150 yards backstroke, Jean

Stanton, Vancouver, scored another double record with a time of 1:53.3-5. The mark bettered the junior record of 2:05, held by Dot Hobson, Toronto, and the senior record of 2:01.2-5, held by Marion Moffatt, Vancouver.

Seventeen-year-old Mary Baggeley, another Norman protégé, crawled the 220 women's freestyle event in 2:41.2-5, bettering the record of 2:41.2-5 held by Mary McConkey, Edmonton. The mark also bettered the time of 2:39 flat set by Helene Madison of the United States in Montreal in 1931.

Bobby Hooper, six-foot, eighteen-year-old of the V.A.S.C., broke the 150-yard freestyle record of 1:33, held by Bob Hammerton, Winnipeg, with a time of 1:27.4-5, and the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club's medley relay team did the 300-yard medley event in 3:43.3-5, to break the old Canadian mark of 3:59 held by the Toronto Dolphins.

The medley relay team was composed of Noel Oxenbury, backstroke; Joan Langdon, breaststroke, and Mary Baggeley, freestyle.

LOPEZ MEETS PAUL BOESCH

Are Booked For Main Event On Saturday Night's Wrestling Card

Vincent Lopez, Mexican mat performer, will be in Victoria to take part in promoter Fred Richardson's Saturday night wrestling show at the Tillicum gym. He will appear in the main event of eight ten-minute rounds against Paul "Bombshell" Boesch, dropkick, ace from New York.

Lopez has appeared against top-notch wrestlers all over the country and is one of the best men to be booked here for some time. Boesch's appearance will be his fifth consecutive performance here.

Rudy La Ditzel, one of the toughest and by far the most talkative wrestlers to appear before local fans, has been booked to appear in the semi-main slot against Donald Clarke, husky Boston exponent.

A special event and local preliminary will round out the show, which will open at 8:30 o'clock.

SOCIAL CREDIT PLANS STATED

The British Columbia Social Credit League, in a prepared statement issued today, said that if a Social Credit government is elected at the provincial general election June 1 it would automatically reduce British Columbia's present $28,000,000 debt to the Dominion Government if federal authorities remit to any province loans advanced on relief expenditures during the past seven years without making similar remittances to the Pacific Coast province.

The Social Credit "covenant for honest, efficient government" said the reduction would be "proportionate" to payments to any other province. It said "like action" would be taken in event of "any discriminatory reduction in the usual federal grants to British Columbia."

WIDER EXCHANGE
The statement said the league, if elected, proposed "to place in operation a means whereby the wealth produced within British Columbia may be freely exchanged; that is, a means whereby social credit principles will be applied to the utmost of the power of this province over its own credit."

The manifesto said provincial credit would be used to provide a medium whereby people may exchange goods and services within the province "to the full extent of their power to produce" may increase production and lessen unemployment.

CREDIT PLANS
It promised distribution of such provincial credit by means of a social credit dividend "as a right of citizenship" and by means of a social credit discount on goods purchased with provincial credit. It said such provincial credit would be accepted "as full value in settlement of any payment due to the government of British Columbia."

NO MORE DEBT
Principal terms of the league's manifesto were:

An absolute halt to the growth of the provincial interest-bearing debt. A balanced budget—expenditures for all government works, services, debt interest and debt reduction to be paid out of revenue.

No repudiation of the bonded indebtedness of British Columbia either as to yield or principal, coupled with a steady reduction of debt by use for this purpose of all foreign exchange accumulated by the government over and above that required for external interest payments.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION
Appointment of a highway commission to design a long-term road programme with "no more political roads."

A public utilities commission to regulate the prices charged by "monopolies."

TRADE BUREAU
To provide an export trade bureau to aid producers and exporters to "forward to the utmost the export of primary products."

The Victoria candidate attacked the building of the New Westminster Bridge—the $400 company first authorized to construct it—the employment of an engineer at $10,000 a month because the company could not build it—the subletting of the contract to another company from which the government borrowed $2,000,000 on a call loan. This, he said, was an example of Hon. John Hart's financing.

"For two years you lived under fascism in this province," he said, "and if you elect Pattullo again he is going to bring back the S.P.A. He has got to do it, if he wants the Yukon."

Paris, May 6 (Canadian Press from Havas). — The government today banned a procession planned by the Royalist Action Française for the coming Sunday in commemoration of the fete of Jeanne d'Arc.

Sees Win For Conservatives

E. V. Finland, Esquimalt Candidate, Makes First Campaign Speech

The Conservatives would win the provincial election because the issues were clear, E. V. "Mike" Finland, Conservative candidate in the Esquimalt riding, predicted in making his first campaign speech at the Athletic Club, yesterday evening.

On the one hand were Social Conservatives, Progressives, Creditors, and C.C.F., with varying forms of socialism and votes for the Orientals, all un-British, he said.

Down the middle course was the Conservative Party, which would (1) reduce the cost of government, (2) make impossible such scandals as the Hedley Amalgamated, (3) assist the municipalities, (4) assist the farmers and protect them from "profiteering racketeers who hide behind marketing boards," (5) "give Vancouver Island a square deal."

The Liberals were offering Esquimalt $500, Mr. Finland said. The Conservatives would ease the burden of the taxpayers in the municipality, he declared.

B. A. McKelvie, Conservative candidate in the Victoria riding, and Brigadier Sutherland Brown spoke in support of the Esquimalt candidate, R. H. Pooley, K.C., was in the chair.

"One thing I can't understand is why we call the Malahat and the Pattullo Drive," Mr. McKelvie said. He contended there was a Pattullo Dam and a Pattullo Bridge in the province.

Mr. McKelvie declared that he was going to be at the party when they opened the Pattullo Dance Hall in Dawson City.

BANG! SLITHER! CRASH!

ANOTHER BLOW-OUT TAKES ITS TOLL

A blow-out car gets out of control.

A sticking lurch—a crash—then what?

Caused by a blow-out—think of the cost.

Guard your Family and your Car with GOLDEN PLY BLOW-OUT PROTECTION

WHAT if your name was featured in one of those newspaper blow-out accident headlines? Your car smashed, you or your family crippled? Blow-out accidents kill or injure thousands every year. Why gamble with this horrible chance? Why not make sure of blow-out protection now!

Heat—Blisters—Blow-outs

Consider what happens to your tires when you're travelling at today's usual high speeds. Naturally the heat generated in your tires is terrific. A tiny blister may form inside between the rubber and the fabric. Steadily it gets bigger and BIGGER. You have no warning—until BANG! A Blow-out! Then it may be too late.

Goodrich engineers have developed a real blow-out protection called the "Golden Ply," found only in Goodrich Silvertown Tires. It is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. Blisters don't get a chance to form, and that means blow-outs due to heat don't get started.

Don't YOU take chances

You can't afford to take chances on tires you're not positively sure about. The only safe thing to do is replace your risky tires with Goodrich Golden Ply Silvertowns. They're the only tires made with Golden Ply Blow-out Protection. Best in the long run—yet they cost no more.

Young Vancouver Rider Captures Honors in Province Race; Victorian Second

Vancouver, May 6.—Warren McCarty, young Vancouver cyclist, last night beat veterans of the senior A class to win The Province Cup in the twenty-fifth renewal of the annual seven-mile bicycle race. Two other juniors, Ken Fairbairn, Victoria, and Bruce Stein, Vancouver, were second and third respectively.

McCarty, entered as a junior A class rider, pedalled the Stanley Park circuit course in 16 minutes 46.2-5 seconds, considerably slower than the record set by Morris Robinson, Vancouver, in the event last year.

Robinson won the class A event with a time of 16 minutes 51 seconds, while Tom Hall was second as Leo Marchiori, Vancouver, the third A rider to finish.

The cup is taken by the rider turning in the fastest time for the course. John Newman, Saanichton, V.I., was slightly hurt in a pileup of bicycles halfway around the course. Harry Kuroyanagi, Leslie Bolney and Stanley Morley, all of Vancouver, were also involved in the spill.

At Capitol

Nelson Eddy and Jeannette MacDonald are the stars of "Maytime," which opened its Victoria engagement at the Capitol Theatre this afternoon.

Dick Powell and Joan Blondell are co-stars in the musical picture "Gold Diggers of 1937," now at the Oak Bay Theatre.

"Gold Diggers of 1937" is the fourth of the famous and delightful "Gold Diggers" series turned out by the Warner Bros. studios. It is the funniest and most elaborately cast and mounted of all of them. It stars Dick and Joan, and the other noted players include Victor Moore, Glenda Farrell, Lee Dixon, the famed eccentric dancer, Osgood Perkins, Charles D. Brown, Rosalind Marquis and Irene Ware, plus 200 dancing beauties.

"Maytime" at the Capitol

Nelson Eddy and Jeannette MacDonald Sing Leads in Famous Light Opera

Hollywood's first spectacular musical picture of the new year, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Maytime," delighted a capacity audience at the Capitol Theatre today.

With the glamorous Jeannette MacDonald and the picturesque Nelson Eddy reunited in the starring roles, this extravaganza adaptation of the successful stage musical is far more beautiful than the original.

Miss MacDonald and Eddy surpass their starring performances in those brilliant pictures, "Naughty Marietta" and "Rose Marie." John Barrymore is excellent as the temperamental and tragic impresario, and Lynne Carver, a lovely stranger to the screen from Kentucky, appears with Tom Brown to provide the juvenile romance.

"Maytime" is a gorgeous spectacle to view and a beautiful theme to hear. Hunt Stromberg and Robert Z. Leonard, who respectively produced and directed "The Great Ziegfeld" last year, occupied the same positions in the production of the new picture.

Noel Langley adapted the story from the stage play by Rida Johnson Young, Sigmund Romberg, who wrote the original Broadway score, composed the songs for "Maytime" with Herbert Stothart.

Stanley's Adventures in Africa

IV--A NARROW ESCAPE

One day Stanley sat down to talk with Frank Pocock, the Englishman who had been his good friend and comrade for the two years since they had left the eastern coast of Africa.

"What do you think about it, Frank?" asked Stanley. "Should we explore a bit more to the northeast, then go back to Zanzibar? Or should we go toward the southwest and explore the great river which Livingstone had a glimpse of?"

Pocock did not know that his answer would mean his own death.

"Let us go on!" he replied. "Let us find and explore the great river!"

Helped by guides, Stanley's party worked their way ahead, going through dense growths of ferns, spear-grass, rattans and so on. Here are some of the words left to us about the passage through the heart of Africa:

"Day by day, we plodded through the weary forest. We saw a python ten feet long, a green viper, a monstrous puff-adder, besides scores of monkeys and large, howling baboons. We heard the 'oko' (of chimpanzees) in the fork of a tall tree. Armies of deep brown ants compelled us to be careful how we stepped."

At last the great river was reached. Stanley called it the Livingstone River, but it appears in geographies as the Congo. The "Lady Alice" was put together and placed in the water. There was not room in it for all the party, so dugout canoes were prepared for the rest.

On a January day one of the canoes was upset, and three men were dumped into the water. This happened where there were rapids in the river. Two of the men were saved by the paddlers of another canoe, but the third--known as Zaida--clung to the upset canoe and floated downstream. The canoe struck a narrow pointed rock, and Zaida let go just in time to save himself from being pulled over a waterfall which dropped about eight feet. He grasped the rock and clung to it.

Two men in another canoe, with a long rope fastened to it, went to his rescue. Zaida was saved, for the moment, but the rope holding the canoe snapped in two! The canoe swung around until it was caught by another rock. The three natives were able to fasten it to the rock, but did not know any way to get ashore. It was now nearly dark, and efforts to save them were given up until morning.

Early next morning, they were still there. The men on shore made cables by twisting long pieces of rattan together. These were tossed out until they drifted where the men could catch hold of them. Each one tied a cable around his waist, and was hauled ashore by those on the bank.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX--I am married to the most stubborn, contrary man on earth. How can you get along with a husband of that kind of disposition? I have tried gentleness, patience, fighting, being mean myself, but nothing does any good, so I send out an SOS to you.

DISGUSTED WIFE.

Answer: Of course, one would like to say that the best way to treat a contrary man is to treat him over the head with a coffee pot, but unfortunately women lack the physical strength to enforce such an argument against contrariness. Besides which, our effete civilization discourages such primitive means of family discipline.

All that is left, then, for the woman who is married to a man with a mulish disposition is to treat him as she would any other donkey who hasn't sense enough to do what is right and proper, but who has to be cajoled along the way he should go.

Begin by letting the silly ass think that he has suggested everything that you want to do. If you want to have the parlor papered in green instead of purple, don't rashly say that you are going to have green or your donkey will put his foot down and declare for purple. On the contrary, gently and insidiously suggest the idea of green paper and, when you perceive that the time is right, ask him what color he would prefer to have the parlor papered. He will say green and berate you for not having thought of it yourself.

In the next place, remember that the law of contrariness always works backward, so that you can work a mulish husband in it. Never show that you are keen to do anything or go any place that you have set your heart on, but affect a supreme indifference to it.

If you have determined on spending the summer at the seashore, send off and get a lot of advertisements of mountain resorts. Mr. Male will immediately be filled with a mad enthusiasm for the sea. On the contrary, gently and insidiously suggest the idea of green paper and, when you perceive that the time is right, ask him what color he would prefer to have the parlor papered. He will say green and berate you for not having thought of it yourself.

Avoid all arguments as you would the pestilence. An argument with a contrary man is like a mordant that sets a dye and makes it indelible. If he says black is white, let it go at that and he may forget who said it. He expressed and recognize white for the color it is. But if he once commits himself that black is white, he will stick to it to the end of time.

A wise man changes his opinion with the different light that he gets on a subject, but a donkey, having no mind to change, can't possibly alter it. Therefore, no matter how circumstances differ or how big a fool view he may take in the first place, he feels that he must be what he calls consistent and stick to it.

Of course, the less sense a man has the more amenable to flattery he is and the easier he is to work, so there is nothing for the woman who is married to a contrary man to do but to get busy with the salve and plaster him over daily with fulsome compliments.

If she tells him how big and wise and strong and wonderful he is and how she defers to his judgment in every particular, he will eat out of her hand and she may do with him as she will. Some women can do this, some can't. Some do not think it worth while and, as a matter of fact, it isn't worth any sensible woman's trouble to humor such childish weakness, for such a man makes her very, very tired.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX--I am a young man with a wife and three small children whom I love dearly, as I do also my father and mother, who live in the same town that I do. My trouble is that my mother and my wife cannot get along together. Both are highly tempered and sensitive, especially toward each other. They are always getting their feelings hurt and coming to me with their tales against each other and wanting me to take sides. This makes me perfectly miserable. What shall I do? Shall I give up the good practice I have and go to some other town? Can you offer any suggestion to a

Answer: The strangest thing in the world is that the two women who love a man most in the world are willing to make over sacrifices on earth to him except to sacrifice their jealousy of each other. When a man's wife and his mother fight over him like dogs over a bone, they never seem to realize that he is the sufferer, and that they are literally tearing him to pieces between them and devouring his happiness. There is no other such exhibition of feminine selfishness.

Yet the very mother who is willing to wreck her son's home, divorce him from his wife and tear his children out of his arms, talks about her love for him; and the wife who would separate him from the mother who bore him, prates of her devotion to him. Both of them know that when they go to him with their tales and complaints and criticisms of each other, they drive him to desperation and make him utterly wretched. Yet neither one is willing to forego the pleasure of indulging her own spleen to secure his peace and happiness. Self-centred, hide-bound egotism can go no further.

When a mother-in-law and daughter-in-law who dislike each other are compelled to live in the same house, it is understandable that they will get unendurably on each other's nerves. But any town or city is big enough to hold even enemies and any two women, no matter how discordant, should certainly be ladies enough to have enough knowledge of the world to be able to preserve an outward appearance of harmony when they are occasionally together. Therefore, I should certainly advise you not to sacrifice your good practice by moving away from your home town.

Furthermore, have one grand row with your wife and your mother separately and lay down the law to each. Tell each how miserable she is making you and that you are not going to have your peace of mind shattered by their petty quarrels. Forbid either one to mention the other's name to you again.

Then the next time either one starts tale-bearing, shut her up by pulling all the cave-dweller stuff that you can.

DOROTHY DIX.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1937

Many conflicting planetary aspects are discerned in the horoscope for today, according to astrology. Labor is under a menacing sky as it enters the month of May.

The morning is an auspicious time to launch new projects of every sort. Construction on a huge scale is forecast for many cities. Neptune is in a place that influences the mind and the emotions and to deceive themselves as well as those whose opinions they hope to direct.

Compromises are common in government policies which stir discord among adherents to political parties.

This is a favorable way under which to sign treaties and agreements. While there may be much unrest and discontent among workers, they are subject to a rule that promises the co-operation of employers.

This is a fortunate rule under which to travel, although the voyage may be disappointing. Crowded liners may meet with delays and accidents, the seer foretells.

Adverse stars are to be forewarned May 12, but the Queen will be more fortunate than the King in withstanding the exactions of the great pagan.

Persons whose birthdate is 11 have the augury of a year in which certain obstacles may be encountered. Hard work will win.

Children born on this day probably will be of balanced mind and strong character. Subjects of this sign gain strength through mined and persistent industry.

Joseph C. Cannon, one-time Speaker of the House of Representatives, was born on this day, 1838. Others who have celebrated it are: Robert Lynd, sociologist; Robert Browning, English poet, 1812; William Bainbridge, naval officer, 1774; Johannes Brahms, German composer, 1838.

Few Immigrants Here Last Year

Planes to Fight Rum Runners

Ottawa, May 6.—As a new weapon against rum-runners and smugglers on the Atlantic Coast the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is acquiring four de Havilland dragonfly cabin biplanes.

One, perhaps more, of the planes will be stationed at Shediac, N.B., the others at suitable points in the Maritime. They are equipped with 130-horsepower engines and have a cruising speed of about 200 miles an hour.

Only 12,000 Came to Canada in 1936; Many More New Residents Came From United States Than United Kingdom

Ottawa, May 6.—Immigration to Canada, which at one time reached flood proportions, dwindled to a mere trickle last year when 12,023 people settled in the country. Immigration in the last two years has been the lowest since Confederation.

In addition to the 12,023 foreigners who entered Canada, 5,064 Canadians returned to their native land from the United States.

The years immediately before the war were the biggest years in Canada's history for immigration and in 1913 the all-time peak of 400,000 immigrants arrived. In 1930 the arrivals totaled 104,000 and since then have been less than 30,000 each year.

Of the 12,023 new residents, 2,264 came from the United Kingdom and 5,113 from the United States.

Ontario was the destination of 5,140, Quebec 2,003, British Columbia 1,373 and Manitoba 1,007.

Waterfront Notes

The Canadian-Australasian motorship Aorangi has been further delayed on her trip here from the Antipodes and it will be 5.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon before she reaches William Head, according to a wireless message received this morning from Capt. T. V. Hill by James Macfarlane, general passenger agent for the C.P.R. in Victoria.

The Aorangi will berth immediately after the American Mail liner President Jackson clears for the Orient, unless present plans are again changed.

Mariners are advised in an official notice today that the unwatched red lights at the north end of Tahsis Narrows, Heate Channel, West Coast of Vancouver Island, and on the end of Woodward's Training Wall, Fraser River, are reported not burning. They will be attended to as soon as possible.

The whalers Black, Green and Brown are nearly ready for sea and expected to leave the Inner Harbor within a few days for Naden Harbor, in the Queen Charlotte Islands. The W. Grant, Blue and White have reached their base at Rose Harbor for the season.

Work is still being done on the Canadian National car ferry Canora and the government's lighthouse tender Estevan alongside the Yarrow plant in Esquimalt Harbor.

Much interest has been aroused in the Coronation Day excursion from Victoria to Seattle next Wednesday. Many reservations have already been received. The Ss. Princess Margaret has been engaged for the occasion and will leave Victoria at 9 o'clock in the morning, returning about 10 o'clock that evening.

The Princess Mary is expected to go to drydock at Esquimalt Harbor tomorrow morning for annual overhaul by the Victoria Machinery Depot. Her place for a few days on the Vancouver—Comox—Powell River—Gulf Islands run will be taken by the Princess Norah.

U.S. Launches Two Warships

Bremerton, May 6.—Bands played and flags were waved to the accompaniment of cheers from thousands of spectators as the two new additions to the United States navy were launched at the Navy Yard here. The new fighting craft are the Patterson and the Jarvis.

The Patterson is named in honor of Commodore Daniel Todd Patterson, early American naval hero, and his grand-daughter, Miss Elizabeth Patterson of Washington, D.C., christened her.

Mrs. T. T. Craven, wife of Admiral Craven, commandant of the Puget Sound Navy Yard, christened the Jarvis, which is named after Midshipman James C. Jarvis, who, at the age of thirteen, was killed aboard the American frigate Constellation in 1800.

Tacomans Plan Coast Voyage

Group From Chamber of Commerce of That City to Sail By Princess Norah

A party from the Chamber of Commerce of Tacoma, numbering between fifty and sixty persons, will come to Victoria next Tuesday to sail that evening at 11 o'clock by the Ss. Princess Norah on a goodwill cruise along the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The Norah, which recently came off the Alaska run, has been placed on this run especially to accommodate the Tacoma tourists. She will make her regular run along the coast, calling at numerous ports as far north as Port Alice and returning to Victoria May 18.

This will be the first organized tour party to come to Victoria this season, and will be the forerunner of many others.

The tourist season to Alaska has started and a large group of Americans reached Victoria yesterday afternoon by the Ss. Princess Kathleen, en route to Vancouver, from where they sailed in the evening for Skagway by the Ss. Princess Louise.

Already California motorists are commencing to arrive in Victoria, and the first trailer of the season from San Francisco, was seen on city streets this morning.

Stowaway Ends His Own Life

Jumped Overboard From Ss. President Monroe When Told Fantastic Tales

New York, May 6.—An ill-fated jest that sent two stowaways plunging into the icy waters of lower New York Bay, terrorized by fantastic tales of long years in prison as punishment for their illegal passage, ended in death for one of the "hoax" victims yesterday.

Four policemen vainly risked their lives to save a man, listed as Tom Garadilla, thirty-eight, an Italian, who succumbed to shock and submersion after his leap from the Dollar liner President Monroe.

The other stowaway, Dominic Celebrito, thirty-seven, was rescued and returned to the President Monroe.

Ships officers said members of the crew "kiddingly" told the two stowaways they would have to serve long terms of imprisonment for their "crime."

Actually, the punishment would have been three or four days in jail.

Woman Explorer Off to Norway

Canadian Press
New York, May 6.—The only woman Polar explorer, Miss Louise Boyd, whose Arctic explorations in the last ten years have rivaled those conducted by men, sailed for Norway yesterday on an expedition to Greenland waters. An attempt will be made to locate the undersea shelf believed to connect northwest Greenland and Spitzbergen. Miss Boyd, who leads and finances her own expeditions, contributes her findings to the American Geographical Society.

From Norway the party will go to Alesund, where the Norwegian sailing ship used by Miss Boyd on several of her previous expeditions awaits them. They will sail for the waters between northeast Greenland and Spitzbergen at the end of the month and will remain in Arctic waters until mid-September.

OPEN BRIDGE OVER THAMES

Canadian Prime Minister Officially at Ceremony in London

London, May 6.—Prime Minister King of Canada today opened the new $1,835,000 Chelsea Bridge across the Thames, snipping a three-inch red, white and blue ribbon in a simple ceremony carried out in brilliant sunshine.

The Canadian leader then walked across the bridge, together with Lord Snell, chairman of the London County Council; Herbert Morrison, majority leader in the House of Commons; Secretary, Malcolm MacDonald, and Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty.

Later a luncheon was held in the Council Hall. Mr. King spoke briefly, recalling early associations with London, and Chelsea particularly, and calling on delegates to the Coronation to "build many bridges uniting the Dominions and colonies and the Mother Country in firmer, sounder, happier bonds."

The new Chelsea Bridge replaces one built in 1858.

FIRST GRAIN SHIP IN PORT

Swedish-owned Abraham Rydberg Reaches England, 112 Days Out From Sydney

Falmouth, England, May 6.—The four-masted Abraham Rydberg yesterday won the windjammer grain race from Australia as she made port here after a passage of 112 days.

The Swedish-owned, steel "four-poster," with a cargo of 4,000 tons of grain, was the first of the fleet to leave the Australian coast in the annual, Australia race.

Eleven other vessels are en route. Another of the starters, the C. B. Pederson, was sunk in a collision.

Headwinds "down under" in the Australian Eight and a long, windless spell in the doldrums made the winner's time comparatively slow.

Last year's victor, the Finnish bark Herzogin Cecilie, completed the run in eighty-six days, but was wrecked on the Devon coast at the end of her voyage.

The all-time record for the 14,000-mile voyage, made in the days of the crack wool clipper, is sixty-four days. The record for this century, established in 1935 by the Parma, is eighty-three days.

Ship Fought Great Seas

Canadian Press
Liverpool, N.S., May 6.—This south shore fishing town had a new tale of the sea today, the story of how Capt. Harold Corkum brought the tiny eighteen-ton schooner Ruby May back to port through mountainous seas with a rudder made of oars.

Arrived from the week's fishing on Lahave Bank, the crew of five told of how their rudder had been swept away in a storm that taxed the seaworthiness of the staunch little craft to the utmost. Capt. Corkum rigged up his temporary rudder out of three oars and, with only wisps of canvas showing, brought the vessel through ninety miles of heavy seas to Liverpool.

HALIBUT FISHERIES
Seattle, May 6 (Associated Press).—The International Fisheries Commission reported today Canadian and United States halibut fleets landed 3,548,577 pounds of halibut from area 2 and 2,971,924 from area 3 last month.

This gives an aggregate since the season opened March 16 of 5,749,219 pounds from area 2 and 4,360,629 pounds from area 3, compared with 5,978,740 and 3,815,348 pounds, respectively, in the same period last year.
